Five Are Killed, Four Wounded By Crazed Man

New Jersey Scene Of Shooting Orgy By Young Husband

By FRANK BURKE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

VINELAND, N. J., Nov. 18.—A young veteran who killed five persons and wounded four others in a crazed vendetta against his wife's family was captured by state troopers early today and begged "Shoot—go ahead and kill me."

Ernest Ingenito, 26, armed with four guns and carrying a large reserve of ammunition in his car, went berserk when he was denied an opportunity for a meeting with his estranged wife and a reunion with their two children.

The slim, good looking Ingenito, raging, "I'm going to clean them all out," wounded his wife and murdered her parents among others in a crazed rampage last night

PA NEWC & OBSERVES

Truckers and others operating motor vehicles will be glad to learn that the new Wheatland-West Middlesex by-pass highway will be formally thrown open for use next Friday, November 24. The two and a half mile road which intersects with Route 18 north of West Middlesex, provides a shorter and much leveler road between New Castle and the Shenango Valley. The project was started last spring by the highway department.

A few venturesome local nimrods hiked to the mountain areas of the state over the past week to seek out a wild turkey for the Thanksgiving table. Very few of the birds were spotted by the huntsmen and most of them returned to the city to hike for the nearest market to get their bird.

As colder weather gradually bears down upon the area and more residents are found remaining home during the winter evenings, inspection of home heating plants would not go amiss. Fumes from coal and gas furnaces can easily snuff out lives and explosions can result from improperly fitted equimpent. Chimney inspections should be made to prevent disastrous fires.

Ohio Man Fatally Hurt In Crash On Sharon-Mercer Road

SHARON, Pa., Nov. 18—(INS)—Joseph C. Roudenbush, 54, of Newton Falls, O., was injured fatally in an automobile wreck on the Sharon-Mercer road today.

Injured in the two-car crash were two sisters and niece of Roudenbush. They are Mrs. Anna Clawson, 55, of Coral, Pa., and Mrs. Esmer Hoge and Mrs. William Jones, of Wheatland, Pa.

Truman Asks For Speedy Aid To Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—President Truman asked Congress today to grant immediate dollar aid to drought-stricken Yugoslavia to avert the growing threat of a fifth column uprising or a Russian attack.

Mr. Truman said that unless Yugoslavia receives more food the Tito regime may fall and the western allies will lose a potential ally in case of a hot war with Russia.

The President urged Congress to act quickly on his emergency aid program during the "lame duck" session beginning November 27.

He added, however, that even if speedy assistance is authorized winter transportation problems will delay the delivery of goods and therefore he has ordered government agencies to take immediate steps to send food to Yugoslavia.

The cost of the overall program is placed at about 100 million dollars.

Barkleys Have Anniversary

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—The nation's most prominent bridegroom of 1949 celebrates his first wedding anniversary today with the attractive burnette who has crowded movie stars off the front pages for months.

It was just a year ago that 71-year-old Vice President Alben Barkley married 38-year-old Jane Hadley in a St. Louis cathedral with the emphatic approval of the entire nation.

The anniversary celebration, in contrast, will probably be very quiet.

The vice president has been resting up for the past few weeks at his home in Paducah, Ky., after making a whirlwind, last-minute campaign tour on behalf of Democratic candidates for office.

During the past year Jane Barkley, virtually unknown in the capital at the time of her marriage, has become one of the most popular women in Washington.

Four Persons Shot, Two Are Stabbed In Chicago Brawl

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Four persons were shot and two were stabbed early today in a wild tavern brawl on Chicago's southside.

Bartender Ray Murray, 34, of the Royal Tap said 12 patrons were involved in a chair-and-bottle-throwing fight that began when a young man asked a middle-aged married woman for a dance and her husband objected.

Police held 29-year-old Joseph Ramirez in connection with the shootings and stabbings.

Police said the fight apparently began after Ramirez asked Mrs. Boland to dance and she refused.

After the shootings, Ramirez rushed to the Kay home, told the youth's uncle, Charles Kay, a policeman, "Bill's been shot," and surrendered his revolver. The officer took Ramirez to the police station.

Police said Ramirez denied the shooting but the gun had been fired and contained only three bullets.

BUILDING BURNS

MONT ALTO, Pa., Nov. 18—(INS)—The main building of the Mont Alto Evaporating company's apple drying plant was destroyed by fire early today after companies from Mont Alto, Chambersburg and Waynesboro fought the blaze for two hours.

Francis Hare, a Chambersburg fireman, was injured when a hook on a hoze nozzle caught his clothing and he was dragged a short distance by a moving truck.

KILLED BY AUTO

SHIPPENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 18.—(INS)—John M. Grove, 81, died in Chambersburg hospital last night after being struck by an automobile in Shippensburg.

Grove formerly was commissioner of streets in Shippensburg. Police identified the driver as L. D. Stinbach, of Chambersburg.

New Castle Man Gets Driver Of Month Award

Presentation Made During Meeting Of State Safety Leaders

Safety on the highways, and the necessity for constant vigilance were stressed Friday afternoon and evening in The Castleton hotel. Safety officials from over the state met in the hotel for the bi-monthly meeting of the Accident Prevention Conference of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association.

In addition to the safety talks, Edward L. Dout, a New Castle truck driver was awarded the "Driver of the Month" certificate and the national safety trophy of the American Trucking Association was presented to the state organization of PMTA.

Business Meeting

In the afternoon a business session was held at which only members attended. At this session Earl Hess of Philadelphia was named chairman of the conference for the coming year to succeed W. Robert Smith of Altoona.

The evening session was open to the public and the ballroom held a crowd when the meeting came to order at 7:30. Mr. Hess presented the chairman of the evening, W. Robert Smith, who introduced the speakers.

Robertson Cameron, Director of Public Relations for the PMTA spoke on "Public Relations Values." He stressed the importance of the trucking industry telling its story of service to the general public in order to combat false propaganda of the enemies of the industry.

Mr. Cameron spoke of the Mobile Safety Clinic which has toured the state and which has attracted countless thousands on the streets of Pennsylvania cities as one example of state-wide service of PMTA.

Driving Training

George Lowe, Safety Director of the Atlantic Refining Company stressed the importance of driver training. "Driver training starts in the high schools," said he. "We hear a lot of criticism these days of the teen-agers. After dealing with them over a wide area I'm convinced there never was as fine a crop of teen-agers in America as we have today.

"All they need is intelligent

Search For Herd Is Discontinued

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 18.—(INS)—The coast guard announced today that it has discontinued the search for New York theatrical broker James M. Herd, Jr., missing since Wednesday when a small boat capsized at the mouth of the North Edisto river.

Herd and three other persons, including the wife of a millionaire insurance executive, were on a fishing trip when the accident occurred.

The body of socially prominent Mrs. Frederick H. Ecker was found washed ashore on a South Carolina beach yesterday.

The two other members of the fishing party were rescued Wednesday. Joseph B. Rogers, a New York real estate broker, and Peter Morris, a Seabrook Beach, S. C., caretaker, suffered shock and bruises.

GETTYSBURG CEREMONIES

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 18.—(INS)—Week end ceremonies will commemorate the historial address Abraham Lincoln delivered four score and seven years ago at Gettysburg.

U. S. Rep. John C. Kunkel will top off the 87th anniversary celebration with a speech tonight before former officers of organizations related to the Grand Army of the Republic.

A parade and memorial services will be staged at Gettysburg battlefield tomorrow.

May Reduce Excess Profits Tax Proposed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—An administration supporter in the House said today that President Truman's requested four billion dollar excess profits tax may be trimmed or even pigeonholed by the coming special session of Congress.

The tax proposal, aimed at filling a gap in urgent defense finances, has already come under fire from business as "un-American" and from labor as "too small."

Rep. Combs (D) Tex., said sentiment among some members of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee is to draft a bill taking a considerably smaller cut from top corporate profits.

Moreover, he added, with Congress pressed for time after its return November 27, there is reasonable doubt that such a complicated bill could actually be written by the committee and threshed out both in the House and Senate.

Meanwhile, the committee scheduled a Saturday session in an effort to hear as many witnesses as possible before the public hearings close November 22. Some 225 individuals have asked to be heard.

Two Hunters In Plane Killed

IMLAY CITY, Mich., Nov. 18.—(INS)—Two Pontiac, Mich., hunters were killed instantly today when their two-passenger plane crashed into a celery field near Imlay City.

The wrecked plane was discovered this morning when a gasoline station operator arrived for work near the scene of the crash. There were no witnesses to the accident.

The men were identified by state police as Richard Allen Payne and Charles Brandon, both of Pontiac.

Police said the men were dressed in hunting clothes and there were rifles in the plane.

Driver's License Applications Are Mailed In State

HARRISBURG, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Approximately 3,750,000 applications for 1951 drivers' licenses were mailed today by the State Revenue department.

Secretary Otto F. Messner estimated that 80,000 licenses must be issued each day beginning next week if all applicants are to be filled by January 31 when 1950 permits expire.

'Oversight' May Have Been Cause Of Red Invasion

By IRVING R. LEVINE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

SEOUL, Nov. 18.—Authoritative western diplomatic sources in Seoul said Friday that an "international oversight" may be partially responsible for Communist China's intervention in the Korean war.

The oversight, so the sources say, was:

Failure to advise Peiping of United Nations intentions concerning the important Yalu river power plants.

Neither the United States, South Korea nor the United Nations advised Communist China while armed columns were racing toward the Manchurian border that Peiping could be sure of continuing to benefit from the hydroelectric output of these mammoth power projects.

Gettysburg Address Anniversary Will Be Observed Sunday

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(INS)—The Chicago Historical society tomorrow will observe the anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg address with ceremonies scheduled exactly four score and seven years—to the hour—after it was first delivered.

Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Chicago Mayor Martin H. Kennelly will participate in a brief program (at 3 p. m. CST) marking the opening of a Gettysburg anniversary exhibit from Nov. 19 to 30 of the five original manuscripts of the Gettysburg address, all in Lincoln's handwriting and valued at $500,000.

Both Stevenson and Kennelly have proclaimed tomorrow "Gettysburg Address Day".

Plans Made For Partial Opening Of Butler Road

Alfred A. Martin, Lawrence County Department of Highways Superintendent, announced today that arrangements have been made with the V. N. Holderman Co., to throw a portion of the new Butler road, Route 422, open for public travel some time next week.

According to the announcement received from the highway head, the portion of the highway between New Castle city limits and Rose Point will be lifted from the detour route to enable free use of that part of the road. At Rose Point where the new bridge has been constructed, motorists will have to detour around the bridge and continue their journey over the old highway.

Still At Work

Although laying of concrete has been complete in most instances along the road, the new three and four lane highway is not sufficiently completed to formally open it the entire nine mile distance. Workmen are still engaged in building approaches and building berms to make the artery safe for public travel in case a motorist should get off the highway at high speed.

The road which has been relocated the entire distance except where it crosses the old highway, shortens the distance between New Castle and the Butler county line. It connects on with the new highway built between the Dixie Inn and Mt. Chestnut. Traffic is routed under Route 19 at Dixie Inn as the new portion of the highway connects with that constructed two years ago.

Weather Conditions Factor

As to when the second part of the road will be open, it is not known, but it is expected to be in use by December 15. Weather conditions enter into the entire road's early opening, it was reported today.

Excavation work was started on the new road last year and with good working weather given the contractor, the road has been com-

U.S. To Support Lie's 20-Year Peace Program

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

FLUSHING MEADOW, N. Y., Nov. 18—The United States will announce in the U.N. General Assembly today its support of Secretary General Trygve Lie's 20-year peace program but will oppose Russia's plan for high-level Security Council meetings which would include Communist China.

Senator John J. Sparkman, speaking for the U. S., will offer general backing to the nine-power resolution submitted to the assembly on Lie's blueprint for peace by progressive consultation, particularly among the great powers.

The resolution, sponsored jointly by Canada, Chile, Colombia, Hati, Lebanon, Pakistan, the Philippines, Sweden and Yugoslavia, leaves and decision to next year's assembly pending its consideration by various United Nations organs.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky's blueprint, on the other hand, also proposes perodic Security Council meetings attended by the foreign ministers, but on the condition that Nationalist China be replaced by the Communist regime of Peiping.

Eight Are Dead In Four Days Of Hunting Season In Michigan

MARQUETTE, Mich., Nov. 18.—(INS)—Michigan's hunting season was only four days old today but the death toll among hunters already stands at eight fatalities.

Yesterday alone, four nimrods were killed by misguided bullets.

The latest victims included a 56-year-old Alma, Mich., woman, Mrs. Marie L. Hargrave was shot and killed when a 26-year-old hunter mistook her for a bear.

Sixteen-year-old Duane Scheleban of Rogers City was killed accidentally by his 18-year-old brother, Willard.

Resistance In Northeast Area Reported Broken

Stalemate Continues To Prevail On Northwest Front

By IRVING R. LEVINE
(I. N. S. War Correspondent)

SEOUL, Nov. 18.—United Nations forces in northeast Korea raced over frozen ground toward the Manchurian border 20 miles away today and official front reports said Communist resistance was "broken" in that sector.

International News Service War Correspondent John Rich quoted a U. S. 10th Corps spokesman as saying enemy resistance collapsed before the U. S. Seventh Division advancing toward the border and the Republic of Korea (ROK) Capital Division on the east coast.

(At Tokyo ROK Defense Minister Shin Sung Mo told a news conference that Gen. MacArthur agrees with him that United Nations forces will reach the Manchurian border by Christmas.

(Shin, who has been conferring with supreme headquarters in Tokyo, said MacArthur was optimistic the war will soon end but the Korean official warned the Chinese Communists "may attack again.")

Drive Five Miles

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Headquarters communique said spearheads of the Seventh Division "drove five miles against decreasing enemy resistance to approximately 20 air miles south of the Manchurian border."

Behind them other elements of the Seventh Division gained 10 miles against resistance officially described as "light."

MacArthur's Tokyo spokesman said, however, that Chinese and Korean Communists appeared to be preparing defenses inside the town of Kapsan, 21 miles below the Yalu river border.

Kapsan, approximately 210 miles northeast of the fallen Communist capital of Pyongyang, has been hit repeatedly by United Nations air strikes and is believed to be badly damaged.

Stalemate on Northwest

A virtual stalemate continued to prevail meantime on the northwest front, with United Nations forces in the center and on the left flank expanding their Chongchon river bridgehead in gains of two to four miles.

Resistance was either token or non-existent except on the right flank near Tokchon, where ROK forces continued to batter unsuccessfully against determined Communist resistance.

MacArthur's spokesman said the immediate battle area is no longer a cause for concern. The United Nations, he said, is sufficiently strong to take care of Communist forces "now in Korea."

But the spokesman acknowledged that Reds "now in Korea" do not include as yet an estimated 200,000 to 400,000 Chinese Communists on the other side of the Manchurian border.

Of Great Concern

And he admitted the political question of what Red China will do with those troops is a matter of great concern.

But the immediate military situation, he said, has improved considerably in the past fortnight since crack Chinese Communist troops forced Allied withdrawal from advanced positions near the border

South Korean Leader Sees Early End Of Korean War

(BULLETIN)

TOKYO, Nov. 18.—(INS)—South Korean Defense Minister Shin Sung Mo expressed confidence today that the Korean War will soon end but said South Korean forces will need help in garrisoning the Manchurian border for another year.

Shin told a news conference he and Gen. Douglas MacArthur agree that United Nations troops will reach the Manchurian border by Christmas.

But Shin estimated that present forces in Korea will have to remain there a year to garrison the border. By then, he said his ROK (Republic of Korea) army should be strong enough to assume garrison duty itself.

Optimistic on War's End

Shin, deputy premier of the Republic of Korea and No. Two man in President Syngman Rhee's cabinet, has been conferring with the United Nations supreme commander in Tokyo.

He told a news conference MacArthur is optimistic that the war will soon end.

However, Shin warned that while scores of thousands of Chinese Communist troops in Korea are "withdrawing now, they may attack again."

The deputy premier said he believed the Chinese should have the use of Yalu river power only if they pay for it because the "power plants are on our side of the river."

However, he expressed doubt that protection of the Yalu river power plants was the purpose of the Chinese intervention.

Communist Peiping Radio Sarcastic On Truman Stand

TOKYO, Nov. 18.—(INS)—The Communist Peiping radio commented sarcastically today on President Truman's recent statement that the United States has no desire to wage war against Red China and derided his claims of non-aggression intent.

The official voice of Communist China in a broadcast monitored by International News Service in Tokyo said:

"The pretended surprise evidenced by an American spokesman that anyone could think for one moment that America harbors aggressive intentions against China is not convincing.

Referred to Statement

The broadcast referred to the statement President Truman made last Thursday in which he said that America will respect the territorial integrity of China. It also mentioned a subsequent declaration by Secretary of State Acheson deploring any indication that China could "misunderstand" America's peaceful intentions.

A third American figure mentioned in the broadcast was Senator William F. Knowland (R) Calif., currently touring Korea, who reportedly has proposed that a neutral zone be set up along the Yalu river—the border between Korea and Red China's Manchuria.

Of all these American statement's the Red Chinese radio said: "This mixture of honeyed words and threats is typical of the whole record of public statements made by American spokesmen during the past months. The Chinese people have the record and can judge for themselves.

I'm no alarmist I reckon, but this year there's shortages on, so get busy and buy, while Thanksgiving is nigh for the pick of the crop may be gone. There won't be reorders they tell me, one shot and the stuff is away, so hustle right out and get busy and buy, it's bright, forty-nine today.

Scottish Rite Reunion Ends

Conferring Of Degree Work Closes Friday

Conferring of degrees at the 87th Reunion of the coordinate bodies of the Valley of New Castle Consistory, A.A.S.R., was concluded Friday evening, when the large class of candidates received the 32nd degree of the order.

The reunion has been an outstanding one, featured by old-fashioned fraternal courtesy, Commander-in-Chief C. Merle Raisley announced today, and the clas was an exceptionally fine one.

At the organization meeting of the class, which was presided over by Albert B. Street, chairman of the Service Division, the name chosen by the class was "The 87th" symbolic of the 87th reunion. Dr. A. H. Borland, of this city, was named president, Dr. John C. Anderson, of Sharon, vice president, and James Black, of Johnstown, secretary. The class was addressed by Ill. John E. Elliott, Past Commander-in-Chief.

The members of the class and their ladies will be special guests at the reunion party, which will take place on Friday evening, December 1, when a fine program of entertainment will be presented in The Cathedral, for members and their ladies only.

"RUSSIA WANTS PEACE"

WARSAW, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Soviet writer Ilya Ehrenburg told the communist-sponsored "peace congress" in Warsaw today that the planet earth is "big enough" to hold btoh the United States and the Soviet Union.

The chief editorialist of the Communist party newspaper Pravda told the delegates that Russia wants peace and added:

"We have only one planet, but it is big enough, surely. We can agree to live together.,

"If the United States does not like our ideas, she should fight back with ideas. You cannot avoid war by increasing armaments."

New Effort To End Telephone Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Federal mediators tried again today at Joint Labor-Management conferences to settle the nation's 10-day old telephone equipment workers' strike.

Walter A. Maggiolo of the Federal Mediation Service called on session between the CIO-Communications Workers of America Division 6 representing equipment installers and the Western Electric Co.

The Mediation Service's Regional Director Frank Brown, planned another meeting with company representatives and leaders of the union"s Division 18.

Meanwhile, Bell System Companies in five of the affected 43 states pressed court actions seeking to enjoin picketing of telephone exchanges.

Collection Of Leaves Costly

E. Gene Schweinsber department of streets director, stated that the cost of collecting leaves during October was $2,201.3—which is but one of the services for which no special fee is levied.

In some instances it was necessary to use a grader in loosening the leaves from the street in order to shovel them into trucks.

On some streets which were cleaned, residents swept leaves from their yards, necessitating trucks to make a second and third trip, he said.

U. S. AID GRATIFYING

PARIS, Nov. 18.—(INS)—The French cabinet of Premier Rene Pleven held a special meeting today and expressed gratitude for United States aid to French colonial troops fighting Communist Viet Minh rebels in Indo China.

Minister of Defense Jules Moch revealed that the U. S. had promised to send two aerial groups of B-26 attack bombers to Indo China as soon as possible.

NEW CASTLE MAN GETS DRIVER OF MONTH AWARD

guidance and counsel and they'll make safe, considerate drivers. But that guidance should be from people qualified to do the job."

Commenting upon highway manners of drivers, Mr. Lowe said, "We are still in the dark ages in this respect. Courteous people suddently lose all their courtesy and consideration when they get behind a wheel."

William Pritchard, vice-president of Coastal Tank Lines of York Pa., spoke on insurance problems. "Insurance cannot be bought at bargain counters," said he. "A high accident record shoots insurance up. Safety is a matter of the mind and if we all had a mind to safety, the national record would be better.

"The constant effort of truck associations towards highway safety is beginning to show results. But remember this, the drivers are only part of the safety problem. Something should be done to impress upon pedestrians the necessity of safety."

Turnpike Accidents

O. D. Shipley, Safety Director for the PMTA was the final speaker. He is a nationally-known authority on safety. He used some figures on highway accidents in this nation that were appalling, dwelling especially upon the so-called "accident proof highways" like the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

"The Turnpike is an engineer's dream," said he. "There are no intersections, no traffic lights, no opposing traffic, and no pedestrians, yet in spite of this the accident rate on the turnpike is high.

"The distance from Irwin to Carlisle is 160 miles. In Lawrence County there are 401 miles of improved highway with the attending intersections, lights, pedestrians and the like. Yet in 1949 there were 39 people killed on the 160 miles of the dream highway and only 24 on the 401 miles of highway in Lawrence County.

"Perfect highways are not the answer. On such highways a condition known as highway hypnosis sometimes has its effect and accidents are the result."

Mr. Shipley is leaving the PMTA on January 1 to accept a safety director position in Ohio that offers an even wider field of usefulness. During the evening he was presented with a leather brief case as a token of esteem. W. Robert Smith, the retiring chairman of the Accident Prevention Conference was also presented with a brief case.

Dout Gets Award

Featuring the evening program was the presentation of the Driver of the Month award to Edward L. Dout, of the Haney Furniture Company. Presenting the award for the PMTA, Mayor John F. Haven said, "I am proud to be mayor of a city that produces a driver like Ed Dout.

"In thirty-two years of driving he has shown the world that safety is not a visionary thing, it is a practical thing that pays dividends every day."

Alvin D. Shenken, president of the Haney Furniture Company presented Mr. Dout with a television set from the company. "All of us are proud of Ed Dout," said he. "In winning the distinction of being the driver of the month he has brought credit to all of us in the organization."

The evening closed with a buffet lunch. It was the first meeting of the Accident Prevention Conference held in the western part of the state. The officials of the PMTA were delighted with the attendance and the very apparent interest of the Lawrence County chapter in highway safety.

Woman Plunges To Death In New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(INS)—A woman who registered as Mrs. J. D. Prendergast of Ann Arbor, Mich. plunged to her death today from a 14th floor to a fourth floor extension and apparently died on impact.

Police said she had registered at the hotel just this morning. She was shown to the 14th floor room while it still was being straightened out by a maid. According to police, she was in the room only a few moments, and, in the presence of the maid, pulled a chair to the window, climbed on it, and jumped out.

Members of the Zweig No. 27 of the Eintracht society served as honorary pallbearers.

Active pallbearers were: John Bodendorfer, George Zink, John Shall, Mike Bender, Joseph Wirtz and Mike Ignatz.

Burial took place in Oak Park cemetery.

Stevenson Funeral Time

Funeral services will be conducted for Bert E. Stevenson, of Lakeland, Fla., who passed away there, Wednesday evening, following a three-year illness, from the Fred C. Wolford funeral home, 215 East North street, on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, of the First Presbyterian church in charge. Interment will be in Graceland cemetery.

Mr. Stevenson, who was 76 years of age, was born in New Castle, October 15, 1874, the son of Homer and Hannah Rigby Stevenson. He is survived by his wife, Louise Quest Stevenson, and one sister, Mrs. Fred Gere, of Massilon, O.

Mr. Stevenson was a veteran of the Spanish American War, a member of San Juan Lodge No. 12, and A. M., Valley of New Castle Consistory, Syria Shrine, A.A.O.N.M.S., and New Castle Elks. He spent 30 years in San Juan, Porto Rico, managing a plantation there until he retired, following which he returned to New Castle. He later returned to Florida, where he had resided for the past 10 years.

The body will arrive late Monday evening, and will be taken to the Wolford funeral home, where friends will be received Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, and Tuesday evening, from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Sweesy Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Harriet Melissa Sweesy were held Friday at 2 p.m., in the Leyde mortuary, Rev. A. Culmer Schultz in charge.

Interment was in Oak Park cemetery, with pallbearers being, Julius Gardockey, William Dewberry, Carl White, Edward Rieg, Richard Francis and Richard Plumkard.

RESISTANCE IN NORTHEAST AREA REPORTED BROKEN

back to their Chongchon river defense line.

The lines now have been tightened—the objective of the present limited offensive in the northwest. But the spokesman cautioned against describing the situation as a "general enemy withdrawal."

He declared it would be more accurate to say the enemy is "giving way" locally before United Nations pressure and present actions are more in the nature of local withdrawals.

Advance Eight Miles

In the extreme northeast the ROK Capital Division advanced eight miles north of Myongchon, regaining approximately half the ground lost last week when fierce North Korean counter-attacks forced them to retreat 15 miles.

A 10th Corps spokesman said the Amerisan and South Koreans in that sector had captured a total of 5,335 war prisoners since the Wonsan landing last moth.

On the right flank of the northwest front elements of the Seventh ROK Division were repeately driven off in attempts to retake Hill 814, 11 miles southwest of Tokchon and the only Communist salient south of the important Kunuri-Tokchon lateral highway.

GOMPERS MEMORIAL

CHICAGO, Nov. 15. — (INS) — Three national labor leaders announced today their organizations have endowed a $100,000 Samuel Gompers Memorial Fund at Chicago's Roosevelt college.

Sponsors of the endowment — first by labor organizations on a scale comparable to grants by business and religious groups — are Presidents Philip Murray of the CIO, William Green of the AFL, and Albert J. Hayes of the Independent International Association of Machunists.

The fund will provide scholarships for needy students and extend the college's facilities for labor education. Formal presentation to the institution will take place next month.

It cost the United States $2 billion annually to develop the atomic bomb.

Through the courtesy of Dr. Will Orr, we will be favored with a musical program by the Westminster college trio: Sally Funk, soprano; Art Jones, tenor, and Minnybell Packer, pianist.

Also reserve the date of December 11 for Westminster night, dinner and basketball game.

'OVERSIGHT' MAY HAVE BEEN CAUSE OF RED INVASION

into the Korean war has been widely interpreted as motivated at least in part by the desire to retain a hold on one of the Yalu power plants.

In view of this, Secretary of State Dean Acheson and other western leaders have openly stated that the way is open for a settlement satisfactory to China on the Yalu power supply.

The chain of dams which includes Suiho, one of the world's largest, was completed by Japan 15 years ago when Manchuria and Korea were Japanese colonies.

The power was shared by Manchurian and Korean industry.

Power Sharing Arrangement

After World War II, when Soviet-dominated regimes seized control of both North Korea and Manchuria, the power sharing arrangement was kept in effect.

Manchurian industry draws about 30 per cent of its total power requirements from Yalu power plants. The Russian-controlled port of Dairen also uses Yalu-generated electricity.

One highly placed American representative put it this way:

"I guess we should have called Washington after the 38th Parallel was crossed to remind them that these dams were up the road so that some policy announcement could have been made then".

A source close to the United Nations commission for Korea, said no warning was sent to Lake Success.

Poetry Group Has Workshop

A prose workshop meeting was conducted by the New Castle Poetry Group, Friday evening, when they met at the home of Mrs. C. R. Brenner, 1617 Huron avenue.

Emotion-rousing words were studied and prose paragraphs were submitted by members. Original poems were also read by several members. Important matters were discussed by members during the evening.

It was decided to meet on January 5, the appreciation meeting to be held at the public library. Pulitizer prize winners in poetry will be discussed including, Gwendolyn Brooks, W. H. Auden and Peter Viereck.

Afterwards, Mrs. Brenner served tea and refreshments, bringing the meeting to a close.

A sailor from India brought the first umbrella to America.

Turkeys Will Be More Plentiful

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Turkeys will be cheaper and more plentiful this Thanksgiving.

Dr. Cliff D. Carpenter, president of the American Institute of Poultry Industries, said today the 1950 crop of birds would total 44 million as against 41 million last year.

Not only more, but better, too. Carpenter said the 1950 crop is more tasty and succulent than ever.

Prices of the Thanksgiving birds, he predicted, will be about 10 cents a pound cheaper with housewives getting a family-size turkey for from $1 to $2.50 cheaper than they did last year.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Very Rev. P. Chernyavsky, died 12 years ago, November 19.

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Sadly missed by the family.

Potted Plants Or Novelties Make Appropriate Reminders

Sending flowers doesn't always mean they have to be orchids or a corsage. For real homey sentiment, for something that will last for a time, a potted plant fills the bill.

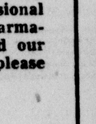

Or a novelty bouquet. For that new baby, or that anniversary, or something else needing a bit of remembrance, a novelty vase full of flowers is always in good order.

In diamonds...
CONSIDER THESE FIVE OF EQUAL SIZE
BUT EACH OF DIFFERENT COLOUR, DIFFERENT INTERNAL QUALITY, AND DIFFERENT PRICE!
Size alone or price alone can be misleading!
Based on percentage comparisons, the five diamonds pictured here vary in actual value and price from 100% at the top, down to 44% at the bottom . . . because of differences in colour and internal quality. Yet, they are all of the exact same size!
We urge you, before you buy, to get the whole story of diamond quality in the few but fact-filled pages of our new "KNOW YOUR DIAMOND" presentation. It will not take much of your time . . . but it is bound to give you an entirely new conception of how to get THE BEST DIAMOND FOR YOUR DOLLAR!

JUNE SIPE BRIDE OF HAROLD BENEDICT

An impressive ceremony took place Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Sipe of Fayette, when they daughter June became the bride of Harold James Benedict, son of Mrs. Marion Orzechowski of Kane, Pa.

Vows were exchanged in the living room at 8 o'clock, with Rev. George Myers of the Methodist church of New Wilmington officiating. The double ring ceremony was used.

The bride was attractive in a suit of cinnamon tan and carried red roses, while her twin sister, Mrs. John Buckley, as matron of honor, wore a navy suit and carried yellow roses and baby mums.

John Anderson of Mahoningtown, R.D. 7, served the groom as best man.

Dinner was served immediately following the ceremony to the family and close friends. The young couple left for a short undisclosed wedding trip. Upon their return they will be at home to their friends in Fayette.

Mrs. Benedict is employed at the G. C. Murphy company and the groom at the Shenango Pottery.

QUEEN ESTHER CLASS TO MEET TUESDAY

Queen Esther Class of the Third U. P. church will be received at the home of Mrs. Findley Boyd, 1038 Maryland avenue, Tuesday evening. Mrs. L. C. McCreary and Mrs. William Williams will be associate hostesses.

Program committee in charge of the program will include Mrs. J. J. Kenehan, Mrs. William Bryan and Mrs. Bernard Hook.

FLANNERY CLASS HEARS BOOK REVIEW

Members of the Flannery class of Highland United Presbyterian church were entertained Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gomer Lewis, Moody avenue.

In her usual pleasing manner, Mrs. Samuel G. Staats gave an excellent review of the book, "A White Bird Flying".

Tentative plans were made for observing the tenth anniversary of the class.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Lowery were responsible for the evening's entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. William Dickie, co-hosts, aided in serving a tempting tray lunch.

LITRENTA-DeSIMONE DATE NOVEMBER 25

Miss Mary Jane Litrenta, a bride-elect of November announced the date of her marriage as Saturday, November 25, to Anthony DeSimone, son of Mrs. John DeSimone, of Lutton street. Miss Litrenta is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Litrenta, of Neal street.

The open church ceremony will be performed in St. Vitus church at 8 a.m.

Miss Kathleen DeSimone will be the maid of honor. Peter Burelli will serve as best man.

A wedding breakfast will be served at the Litrenta residence after the ceremony. The wedding dinner will be served at noon to members of the immediate family.

An open house reception at the Litrenta residence will be held in the afternoon and evening from 5 to 9 p.m.

SHIRLEY HENNON WEDS PAUL WALLACE

A quiet, but lovely ceremony united the lives of Miss Shirley June Hennon and Paul James Wallace today at 12:30 o'clock. Rev. F. A. Duncan heard the exchange of vows in the Croton Methodist church, with the single ring ceremony performed.

Miss Hennon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Hennon of R. D. 8, Faddis avenue, and Mr. Wallace is the son of Mrs. Mabel Miller, R. D. 8, Faddis avenue.

Given in marriage by her father, the attractive bride appeared in a fashionable teal blue suit with pink accessories as pretty accents of the ensemble. Her shoulder corsage consisted of pink roses.

Miss Betty Lou Hennon attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore with charm a gray suit with black accessories, and had a corsage of yellow roses to complete the costume.

Bert Miller served his brother as best man.

A wedding dinner for twenty guests was enjoyed at an inn at Harlansburg, with the group gathering at 2 o'clock. The young couple later departed for a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. They will reside at R. D. 8, upon their return.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace are graduates of the local senior high school. The bride is employed as bookkeeper at the Fishers Brothers Dry Goods company, while the groom, a veteran of four years in the Navy, is affiliated with the Kay Plumbing company and Fletcher Electrical contractor.

READING CIRCLE '06 WITH MRS. I. ALFORD

Members of the Reading Circle of '06 held their Thanksgiving meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Ira Alford, 915 Adams street.

Thanksgiving was the roll call topic with various quotations being given. Several informative program topics were given including: "A Religion That Does Things", Mrs. H. Gardner; "The Great Gift of Gratitude," Mrs. T. McCurdy; "Faith in Prayer," Mrs. Milt Book; "You Can Fight Cancer," Mrs. J. A. Wilson. A poem was given by Miss Nell Paland.

Mrs. Howard Gardner, 417 East Boyles avenue, will entertain at the next meeting.

Lazy Daisy Club

Mrs. Lloyd Moore of Castlewood entertained members of the Lazy Daisy club in her home on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Edward Book assisted the hostess in serving a lunch, with an arrangement of fall flowers centering the table.

Business was conducted by Mrs. Karl Landfried, with plans made for a Christmas party in the form of a dinner party at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Gill, East Washington street. The date will be announced later, and a gift exchange will feature the activity.

TEMPUS FUGIT CLUB PLANS ACTIVITIES

Plans were made for several future events when members of the Tempus Fugit club met at the home of Mrs. Theresa Nocera, Croton avenue, Thursday evening.

Cards were the pleasant diversion, with high score prizes awarded to Mrs. Carl Ginocchi, Mrs. John Corio and galloper to Mrs. Don Mooney. The club token was awarded on her birthday with a lovely gift from her secret sister. The club made plans to visit Mrs. Michael Fazzone, Huron avenue, on Tuesday, November 21. Mrs. Fazzone has been ill for some time.

The club will enjoy a theater party on Thursday, November 30. A Christmas party for December 14 has been arranged, with the group to gather at the New Penn hotel at 7 o'clock. A gift exchange will be featured and secret sister names will be revealed during the evening.

Special guests of the evening were Mrs. Michael Manos and Mrs. Phyllis Frazzo. A dainty lunch was later served, with lighted candles gracing the prettily arranged table. The hostess was aided by her daughter, Rose Marie.

SERVICE S. LEGION TO HONOR OFFICER

New Castle Chapter No. 176, of the Service Star Legion, met in the Y. W. lounge recently with president, Mrs. Edith Cline, in charge. Plans were made for a testimonial dinner and reception honoring Mrs. Ida M. Suber, national president of Service Star Legion.

The dinner will be held in the Legion home, Wednesday evening, December 6, at 6:30 o'clock. The American Legion Auxiliary will serve the dinner. Mrs. Edith Cline is general chairman and Mrs. Catherine Flynn of Edison avenue is in charge of reservations.

Plans were also made for a Christmas dinner and exchange of gifts to be held in the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday evening, December 12, at 6:30 o'clock. Mrs. Minnie Nicholson is the general chairman.

An invitation was extended the chapter to attend a party in the AQH hall, McKeesport, on December 29.

A donation of $50 was given to hospital state chairman, Catherine Flynn for a ward party to be given in the Deshon Veterans' hospital.

At the next meeting the election of the nominating committee will be held on November 28.

Section E Sews

Section E of the Y.L.B. class of Third United Presbyterian church gathered Friday in the home of Mrs. John Boston, Rose avenue, where the day was spent in sewing.

Mrs. Sarah Ambuster aided the hostess in serving a tasty luncheon. Later Mrs. Boston led devotions.

Mrs. Harry Jones, Warren avenue, will entertain Friday, December 1.

BORDEN CLASS HAS JOYFUL GATHERING

Members of the Borden Bible class of First Methodist church enjoyed their Thanksgiving dinner Friday evening at Hopewell Presbyterian church, New Bedford. A tasty dinner was served at tables, decorated with Thanksgiving appointments, and a cornucopia favor marked each place.

Dr. A. C. Shultz led the group singing with Mrs. H. F. Robison serving as accompanist. A reading and skit were given by women of the host church. Freas Powell, who gave an account of the early observance of Thanksgiving Day, closed by reading "The Landing of the Pilgrims," a poem.

Token for games and contests were awarded Dr. Schultz and Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Carroll.

The committee of arrangements follows: Mr. and Mrs. Freas Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Carvey, Mr. and Mrs. Venor Bright and Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Hornung.

SETON HILL ALUMNAE PLANS YULE PARTY

A Christmas dinner was planned by members of the Shenango Chapter of the Seton Hill College alumnae when they met Friday evening at the home of Miss Ann Kelch, 347 Norris avenue, Sharon. Cohostesses for the occasion were Mrs. William DeForest and Miss Grace Clougherty.

Prizes for cards were captured by Miss Margaret Roux and Mrs. Floyd Nowling.

The annual Christmas dinner will be held at the New Penn hotel on Friday, December 8, with Mrs. Frank Leonard, Miss Dolores Callahan, Miss Ann Scarazzo and Miss Alice Alfonso as hostesses for the event.

U. A. C. Class Entertained

Mrs. Harvey Black of 520 Wildwood avenue, entertained members of the U. A. C. Class of the First Baptist Church, on Thursday evening, Nov. 16th.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. Charles Hennon, president. A business meeting followed, at which time the class decided to pack a basket at Christmas for a needy family.

An informal time was had, with game prize going to Mrs. Bruce Headland.

At the close of the evennig, a delicious lunch was served by the hostess at a table decorated in Thanksgiving theme and a floral centerpiece of baby mums.

BUY AND USE THE SEALS

So accustomed have people become to Christmas Seals that the Yuletide season would be drab without them. Something would be lacking if they were not available, something with a friendly, humane message, which has the true significance of the period for which they are designed. The forty-fourth annual sale of these cherished emblems expressive of good will and hope for better health conditions is soon to get under way.

Many persons will receive installments of seals through the mails and otherwise. During the holiday season, as well as earlier, these messengers of mercy are to be used on letters and parcels entrusted to the mails or forwarded in other ways.

Money derived from the sale, as everyone knows, is to be used in the fight against tuberculosis. Each purchaser will be contributing to a project in which every community has a stake. It will be great if anyone is liberal in purchase and use of the seals.

NOT ALL WAR PROFITS

Having been directed by Congress before it adjourned to prepare an excess-profits tax bill, the House Ways and Means Committee has started to give the project attention. Actually it needed no reminder to that effect from the White House but Mr. Truman has now spoken anyway and his views will of course receive the consideration to which they are entitled.

But merely to impose a heavy tax on the increased profits of all corporations will not do the job. That course would penalize unduly those thousands of small business firms which are not engaged in making materials of war and whose present prosperity is the result of normal growth. It would have the further effect—as it did in World War II—of encouraging extravagance and wasteful practices on the part of the large companies.

The Committee for Economic Development stated the case unerringly when it declared that corporations subject to an 85 per cent excess profits tax would often "rather spend their potential profits for non-productive and non-essential purposes than pay them to the treasury."

As the House committee therefore begins its work of finding the means for financing governmental activities it should remember that small business constitutes an important part of the national economy and should not be subjected to taxation or other regulations that will drive it to the wall. The committee should also see to it that no legislation is approved which will be an invitation to reckless spending by corporations.

In taking the profit out of war, care should be exercised that incentive under the free enterprise system is not guillotined.

STILL HAVE 'LAME DUCKS'

Ten of the new men elected at the latest election will be eligible to take their seats and function as national lawmakers during the remaining weeks of the present Congress. They are the six elected to fill vacancies in the House of Representatives and four elected to fill unexpired terms in the Senate (not counting Benton of Connecticut and Dworshak of Idaho, elected to fill unexpired terms but already serving by appointment before the election). Those sworn in when Congress reconvenes on November 27 will have five weeks of seniority over other new members-elect, which will give them a preference in assignment to committee places and may stand some of them in good stead in future years as they move up toward committee chairmanships.

By contrast with these ten fresh from their constituencies, the reconvening Congress will have some 70 members who were defeated in the primary or general elections or who did not choose to run for congress in 1950. These are the "lame ducks." They will continue to enjoy a voice and a vote in national lawmaking until the 81st Congress expires on next January 3. (Seventy is the unofficial count; it does not include House members elected to the Senate). While the lame duck constitutional amendment of 1933 did not wholly eliminate further service by members who may have been repudiated at the polls, it greatly shortened their stay in Congress by advancing the time at which new members take their seats.

Under the old system, all regular annual sessions of Congress began in December. Those in December of the odd-numbered years (the "long" first sessions) ran indifinitely into the even-numbered years. The ones beginning in December of the even-numbered years (the "short" second sessions) came a month after the election in November; they had to end by March 4 of the odd-numbered years when the new Congress began its existence. However, unless called into special session by the president, the new Congress could not meet until December—13 months after its members had been chosen.

Demand By King Farouk

King Farouk of Egypt—reported in a none too favorable political position at home — asserted his authority by demanding withdrawal of British forces from Egypt but the world of diplomacy refuses to become alarmed over what could become a major crisis.

Through his political chieftains, Farouk has demanded abrogation of the Anglo-Egyptian treaty of 1936.

This agreement, which has five years to run, provides for a British fleet at Alexandria to safeguard the Suez Canal and communications with the Middle East, plus the presence of British occupational forces in the Sudan.

Just why Farouk chose to revive the issue at the present time is problematical.

Nationalistic Gesture

Some observers feel that it is a nationalistic gesture by the king to improve his position with both politicians and the public. Many years ago people in difficult spots found it temporarily advantageous to "twist the lion's tail" and Farouk may be doing just that.

A similar demand by Egypt two years ago caused something of a flurry. That was during the war in Palestine when any serious alternation of the existing military picture might have made it impossible to localize the conflict.

At the present time, Britains position is a good deal more secure.

Kenneth Younger, Minister of State and now Chief of the British Delegation at the United Nations, simply says that it is quite impossible for Egypt to cancel the 20-year treaty signed in 1936 by any unilateral action.

Intended To Stay

This means that the British intend to stay and no doubt believe by 1956 the world will be ready to back them in continued surveillance over the Suez Canal.

A foreign office spokesman in London stressed the point that defense of the Middle East affects a great many nations in addition to Britain and Egypt. There is little doubt that any precipitate action by the Egyptians would start an avalanche of opposition.

Unless the political situation in Egypt is kept in mind, there are some curious aspects of Farouk's attitude.

It is true that British troops are in the Sudan.

They are good units, steeped in the traditions of Kitchener and Wavell. Neither Egypt nor representatives of the Sudan have been able to supply satisfactory proof of charges that these soldiers are given to oppression and exploitation of the natives.

Pacifying Force

On the contrary, they are regarded by neutral experts as a pacifying force in a wild, backward region, and much good British money has gone into schools, hospitals and social services.

So far as northern Egypt itself is concerned, there is no doubt whatever that the superficial prosperity of Cairo and Alexandria is traceable entirely to the presence of British troops and capital.

France is represented to some extent in the financial end as well.

But the great hotels like shepherds, establishments near the pyramids and other tourist meccas are the products of British initiative. Over and above this, Farouk surely must realize that tourist travel itself might dwindle away to nothing if British protection were removed.

Competent observers believe that Farouk may be playing perhaps unwittingly into Communist hands by his anti-British attitude.

Certainly Red propagandists are making the most of alleged British aggression and "occupation" of Egypt.

It is not improbable that British evacuation would cause disorders in Egypt that conceivably could topple Farouk from his throne.

To what extent Britain is concerned about such an eventuality is problematical. But it is entirely certain that Britain is not going to be maneuvered into premature withdrawal from an area absolutely vital to her own interests.

FAITH AND TULIPS

As I was planting tulip bulbs my watching grandson said:
"How do you know which ones are white and which are pink and red?"
His eager questions bothered me as from the ground I rose.
"I do not know myself," said I.
"The man who raised them knows

"I have to take his word for it. In him I have to trust.
He tells me these are tulips red.
Believe in him I must.
Were I to tear these bulbs apart I could not prove a thing.
I've only faith that they will bear red blossoms in the spring.

"And as with bulbs it is with us.
God sends us here to toil.
We're given time in which to grow as flowers have the soil.
We must have faith our souls within their purpose here will show.
But for what splendor we were shaped, 'tis only God can know."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHOOSING CHILDREN'S TOYS

In choosing toys for your child keep in mind a few guiding principles. Is the toy durable, safe and amusing? Fragile toys encourage the child in carelessness and rough usage. Not only does a sturdy toy last well but its long life invites creativeness with it and a tenderness toward it, and cultivates a wholesome attitude toward all property and personal possessions. My bulletin, "Teaching Child Care of property" may be had in a stamped envelope sent me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y. Better a few sturdy toys that teach than a ton of trash.

Will the toy amuse the child over a long period? Has it (if for young child) sharp points, cutting edges or poisonous paint? Is the toy suited to the child's age and development? Can the child enjoy it alone or with other children of his age? If it must be operated by an older person it is too old for the youngster.

Gain Value

The child must use a toy himself in order to enjoy it long and gain much value from it. If it is a wind-up toy he should be able to wind it. If it is a puzzle or construction set he should be able to assemble it alone or after some help. However, some playthings like an electric train may be useful to him before he can put them together if he can operate them and will invent and create with them.

Will the toy enable him to enjoy a sense of achievement? The toddler can operate, with good values, toys with which he can imitate adults (help mother). Even trucks and other stout machines in miniature can enable the youngster from four to seven to pretend he is doing grown-up work.

Plain Blocks

Will the toy stimulate the child to create alone and with other children? Simple plain blocks have early and long use for this purpose, as also do construction sets, as soon as the child can assemble them. Toy animals and dolls, especially dolls which can be dressed, can be endless servants to the young creator. Most of all, the child should have parents who enjoy his creative fun in order to make sure he will create with the best toys we select for him. Then he will achieve joyously and creatively as we provide him with paper, crayons, paints, clay and the like.

Will he have playthings he can share with other children of his age? And will he be with other children for such enjoyment?

The child needs toys which will further his muscular growth and coordination, exercising early and later his larger muscles. Playthings should also stimuate the child's reasoning and imagination, causing a lot to go on in his head while he enjoys them.

Therefore, books and children's magazines should be included among the Christmas gifts for children who have parents who read to them and enjoy reading with them. These books should include some which have stood the test of time as well as the more recent ones. My bulletin on "Books From Which to Read to the Baby and Young Child" and on "Books for the child from Eight to Twelve" (both with supplementals) may be had in a stamped envelope sent me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

Future Of Truman-Acheson Policy

WASHINGTON—In all the discussion of whether the Truman-Acheson foreign policy will survive in the new Congress the role of John Foster Dulles appears to have been forgotten. Dulles is one of the three or four most influential advisers in the department of state.

He was named to his present position last April even though there was some opposition to the appointment among Democrats in the Senate. In a bitter contest in New York State in the fall of 1949, Dulles, the Republican candidate, was defeated by Senator Herbert Lehman.

It was on the specific demand of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg that Dulles, rather than a less controversial Republican, was named as advisor to Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Ever since then Dulles has taken an active part in shaping policy with particular stress on Asia and the urgent need for a peace treaty with Japan.

Confers With Vandenberg

A few days ago Dulles flew out to Grand Rapids, Michigan, where Vandenberg is continuing his convalescence from the prolonged illness that has kept him out of the Senate. The two men spent a day conferring together. On his return Dulles reported to his associates that Vandenberg seemed in much better health. While he had little to say about the subject of their conference, it is a safe guess that they reviewed the bi-partisan foreign policy, past, present and dubious future.

On the part played by these two men much depends. But it is the position of Acheson, himself, in this changed situation that is all important.

Despite the idle rumors about his resignation, I find nothing to indicate that the secretary of state is soon to be replaced. Apart from his public denial of any intention of stepping out, Acheson has given earnest private assurances that he intends to stay so long as President Truman wants him.

Civil Servant

As has been aptly said, Acheson considers himself a civil servant who functions at the pleasure of the President. If the President were to indicate even by a gentle hint that the conduct of foreign policy would be easier with a new secretary of state, Acheson would bow out.

But at the White House there is no sign that such a request is in the offing. On the contrary the President's associates believe that his loyalty to his harried secretary of state is at least as great as it was. It may even have been accentuated by the attacks—so frequently reckless and unfair—made on Acheson beginning with the McCarthy broadside and carried through the congressional campaign.

This situation could, of course, change very quickly. It is conceivable that the Republicans might lay down as a flat condition to any cooperation at all that Acheson be replaced. A Republican fiat of that nature would be hard to ignore, especially since it would be buttressed by the complaints of defeated Democrats who tend to blame Acheson for their downfall.

Hard To Find Right Person

During his brief stay in Washington after his victory, Senator Robert A. Taft was asked whether he would consider it a condition to cooperation that Acheson be removed. Taft replied in the negative. He discussed, with the candor that is one of his most interesting qualities, the difficulty of finding someone who would do better than Acheson, even though, as he was quick to add, he considers Acheson's judgment to be faulty in the extreme.

But Mister Republican went on to say that he knew there would be some Republicans who would feel there could be no cooperation so long as Acheson remained in office. And among them would be newcomers elected with the aid of McCarthyism. It was fairly evident that Taft, as the leader of the Republicans in the Senate, does not intend to cast himself in the role of Acheson's defender which would be a strange role indeed for Taft.

With an eye to 1952, it's quite conceivable that shrewder Republicans would not want to go to the extent of forcing Acheson out. If he remains in office, under a running fire of Republican criticism, he may be equally useful as a campaign target two years from now.

If the world situation continued to deteriorate, as it shows every sign of doing, then it will be handy to have a symbol of scorn and blame. Whether this will be good for the country is something else again. Given the growing extremism of our politics, neither side seems likely to consider that factor.

Folks Of Fame

Pierre F. X. de Chailevoix was born in St. Quentin, France, October 29, 1682. At 16 years of age he entered the Society of Jesus, and at 23 was sent to Canada, where he remained for four years as professor at Quebec. In 1720-22, under orders from the regent, he visited America for the second time, and went along the Great Lakes and down the Mississippi river. A city in Michigan is named for him. His books include, among others, "Historie et Description Generale de la Nouvelle France," which was translated into English and is a work of importance for Canadian history. He died at La-Felche, France, February 1, 1761.

Henry Morgenthau was born in Mannheim, Germany, April 26, 1856, and came to the United States in 1865. He was educated in a New York public school and the College of the City of New York. He had degrees from many universities, both in the United States and abroad. He was named ambassador to Turkey, Sublime Porte in 1913, serving until 1916, and having charge of the interests in Turkey of many nations during World War I. He was technical expert to monetary and economic conferences in London, in 1933. He wrote several books, including "Secrets of the Bosphorus," "All in a Lifetime" and "My Trip Around the World." He died November 26, 1946.

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

It would be wonderful . . . absolutely wonderful if all peoples would follow one thought . . . how quickly the world's problems could be adjusted if only all men, and all nations, would apply the principle of the Golden Rule in the conduct of their affairs, with each other.

* * *

When you consider that the Golden Rule, as we term it, is one of the world's oldest laws . . . it is difficult to understand why there is so much turmoil and antagonisms between men and nations . . . It can't be that this law is unknown throughout the world . . . for research reveals that every great religion has taught its adherents . . . For example here is how some religions say it:

CHRISTIANITY: "As ye would that men should do unto you, do ye to them likewise."

Brahmanism: "This is the sum of duty: 'Do naught unto others which would cause you pain if done to you'."

Buddhism: "Hurt not others in ways you yourself would find hurtful."

Confucianism: "Is there one maximum which ought to be acted upon throughout one's whole life? Surely it is the maximum of loving kindness: Do not unto others what you would not have them do unto you."

Taoism: "Regard your neighbor's gain as your own gain, and your neighbor's loss as your own loss."

Zoroastrianism: "That nature alone is good which refrains from doing unto another whatsoever is not good for itself."

Judaism: "What is hateful to you, do not to your fellowman. That is the entire Law; all the rest is commentary."

Islam: "No one of you is a believer until he desires for his brother that which he desires for himself."

Think about the above . . . and how wonderful it all would be . . . if we all would remember and practice the Golden Rule . . . world problems would cease to be life-taking problems . . . Of course, we each can help . . . by practicing the Golden Rule in our homes and town . . . individually.

Looking Back From 3950

By PAUL GALLICO

Excerpt from the report of Professor Priam W. Excavator, Chief Archeologist of the famous Geevem Expeditin organized in the year 3950 to dig into the ruins of ancient Man-Hat-Tan, Chi-Ca-Go and Losan-Geles to study the civilization and lost culture of the vanished race of A-Mer-I-Cans.

—o—

During the fifth week of the big dig, we went down through eighty feet of rubble and came upon a great find, indisputable evidence that the people of those days and times were turkey worshippers, a fact never before established.

Apparently those early Americans who lived and thrived in their great stone warrens some two thousand years ago, believed that there was some special attribute of courage or fortitude to be found in the turkey and they seemed to have thought that if they ate him these virtues would be transferred to them.

It appears then that they set aside one day in the year for the ceremony of eating and digesting this vanished bird, some fossil specimens of which have been uncovered recently, and it was mandatory for every American, male or female, old enough to possess a set of teeth, to partake of turkey on this day. Failure to do so was apparently punished by social ostracism.

Meaning Has Been Lost

For reasons not yet apparent from the records uncovered, this day was known as "Thanks-Giv-Ving-Day," but the meaning of these words has been lost through the passage of two thousand years. It is thought to be tribal and to mean "They-Who-Stuff-Themselves-To-The-Ears-On-Roast-Bird."

But almost as important as the Eating of the Bird, was the preparation of the victim for the sacrifice.

The matron of the home was appeared to be known universally as "Mom" or "Hey-Ma" arose early in the morning and placed the bird, denuded of its feathers in another ceremony known apaprently as "Pluc-King," in a pan and proceeded to give it a ceremonial rubbing with salt after which she proceeded to fasten strips of bacon on its chest and pour melted butter over it.

However, even more important was the "Stuf-Fing" which she compounded out of stale white bread, soaked in cream, pork sausage, chestnuts, celery, sage and other pungent herbs, and the heart, liver and lights of the sacred bird. Since the eating was entirely symbolical, the bread represented the Staff of Life, the pig cunning and good business sense, the chestnuts were to give the partaker a kind of immunity to old jokes, while the sage was for wisdom. All these, the matron placed or "Stuf-Fed" into the carcass of the sacrifice so that the men of her family would become wise, valiant and successful through eating it. There is evidence that A-Mer-I-Cans before going into battle always loudly threatened to "knock the stuffing" out of their foes, and this is evidently what was meant.

"Mom," or "Hey-Ma," would then sew together the openings of the turkey, thrust it into an oven heated to about 350 degrees and commence her vigil before the shrine.

Examine State Of Turkey

At regular intervals, it appeared, she would open the oven door releasing the sacred incense to pervade the household and permit her to examine the state of the turkey and determine whether it was approaching the moment of the supreme sacrifice. Each time she did this, every twenty minutes for three or fours hours, depending on the size of the turkey, she would perform a libation, pouring the compounded butter and juices flowing from the bird, back over his bosom, in a gesture which appears to have been known either as pasting, or basting, it is not quite clear which.

As time progressed, the sacrifice turned from white to yellow, to beige, to tan, to light brown, to golden brown, and later still, as it approached completion, to the rich, dark umber of mahogany. But other changes, too, had taken place in the turkey due to the heat of the sacrificial fire. The skin, at first flaccid had distended and later turned hard and crackly so that when tapped with a utensil it gave off a peculiarly enticing sound.

The ingredients of the stuffing had blended with the sap of the turkey which in turn combined with roasted butter and the drippings of the bacon to release an aromatic incense the fumes of which tended to drive the family of the matron into something approaching a religious frenzy, and they danced about the altar chanting the tribal chorus which went, "Hey-ma, Wen du we yeat?"

At last the bird was placed upon the altar spread with a white cloth, the presiding male cried out thrice, "O-Kay Kids! Kuman gettit!" Thereupon amidst great rejoicing the sacrifice was consummated.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

We are all very grateful to the research people who almost every day discover some new medicine or process to cure us of our ills and make us live longer.

But one fact I have always resented is that so many of the preliminary experiments are being made on rats, guinea pigs, monkeys.

In view of our much vaunted spiritual endowments and superiority to animals, it is a bit humiliating to realize that what is good for a rat is good for man.

However, as long as these scientific discoveries help the human race we may as well be philosophical and accept them in good grace and humility.

It is strange how thoughts can wander.

I had not intended to write about rats at all.

I had intended to tell you about a report, issued by the dignified Smithsonian Institution of Washington, D. C., on a discovery which seems extremely unimportant but which, some day, may have some sort of scientific value.

One of the institution's scientists has just written a paper in which he states that the African elephant shrew sleeps with its eyes open! ! !

The African elephant shrew, in case you don't know, is a tiny mammal with a long nose that makes it look like a miniature elephant.

The reason for the shrew's strange sleeping habits, the report suggests, is that it lives in exposed conditions and is perpetually alert for danger.

Incidetally, while I am on the subject of animals, I wonder where that foolish expression "I am leading a dog's life" originated.

Only today a woman used that expression when she complained about all the work she had to do as a housewife.

At the very moment she was bewailing her fate and comparing it with the life of a dog, she was buying some delicious food for her pet pooches.

These little animals of hers never in their lives did one bit of work to earn their living.

Their master goes to work at 8 o'clock every morning and does not come home until 7 at night. Their mistress cleans house, cooks, takes care of the kids and is dead tired at night.

The dogs, on the other hand, play all day, are petted and taken out for walks, have everything handed to them and haven't a worry in the world.

Yet the woman was complaining about the "dog's life" she is leading.

It seems to me that what is happening to most of us humans nowadays, with the upset conditions of the world, "should't happen to a dog".

If you have read today's column this far, you will probably say "Isn't that fellow Brandies nutty?"

And, would you believe it, for no reason in the world I DO feel awfully nutty today. It is a GLORIOUS feeling!

Why don't you try it some time?

MRS. ALEX GARDNER HOSTESS TO CLASS

Followers of Christ class of the First Baptist church met Thursday evening at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Alex Gardner, 934 Marshall avenue.

Devotionals were in charge of Barbara Capitola and Donna Florida, the theme being Thanksgiving. Members of the class read an article entitled "The Ladder of Life."

The business meeting was presided over by the president, Loretta Kneram, at which time plans were made for Christmas activities. Bible games were enjoyed and later lunch was served by the hostess at a candlelite table, decorated in the Thanksgiving motif.

Loyal Leaders Class

Members of the Loyal Leaders class of the First Christian church, assembled for their monthly meeting, Friday evening at the church, when a tureen dinner was enjoyed. Rev. C. F. Hay offered the invocation. Mrs. E. I. Hall nad Mrs. Robert Doerr were hostesses.

Following the dinner, a nominating committee was appointed, with the following to serve: Mrs. E. I. Hall, Mrs. C. M. Lutton and Mrs. Willard Harlan. Mrs. Claude Patton conducted devotions with Mrs. C. F. Hay leading in prayer. A Christmas party has been planned for the December meeting.

STORE ASSOCIATES HONOR SOPHIA SAWOR

At a local tea room, a group of girls associates of the New Castle store gathered on Thursday evening for a dinner party. The table was nicely decorated, and had lighted tapers. Place cards were set for 26 guests.

The occasion was in honor of Miss Sophia Sawor who will become the bride of John Swanik on November 22. Both young folks are of Wampum.

Cards were the diversion of the evening. Sue Turner captured the door prize.

The bride-elect was the recipient of a number of lovely gifts from the group.

Willing Workers

Willing Workers Class of Croton church, met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. John Scott.

The meeting was opened with a scripture reading by Mrs. E. E. Blaine, followed by prayer by Mrs. James White.

Mrs. Alice Patterson, the president, presided at the business meeting, and plans were made to have a Christmas party at the next meeting, the place to be announced later.

Mrs. P. G. Grossman had charge of the entertainment, after which a delightful lunch was served by the committee and hostess Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. P. G. Piefly, and Mrs. John Scott.

BRIDAL SHOWER FOR SHIRLEY SANFILIPPO

A gala evening was enjoyed by the large gathering of friends at the shower held Thursday evening at the home of Miss Ruth Capitola, 138 Leasure avenue, as a pre-nuptial festivity to honor Miss Shirley Sanfilippo on the occasion of her approaching marriage to Charles Scaglione.

Entertaining with Miss Capitola were Miss Margreta Bergman and Miss Lois Ann Voorhees.

Receiving high score awards for the diverting pastimes of bridge and "500" were Mrs. Frank Sanfilippo, Mrs. Howard Kelley and Mrs. William James.

Appetizing delicacies were served to the guests at the dining room table, which was appointed in a dainty pink and white bridal motif. Lighted candles were arranged on either side of the bouquet of artificial pink and white mums. A single pink and white mum was placed alternately at each place-setting. Attached to each stem was a note which read "Shirley and Scag, December 2, 1950." Table appointments were fashioned by Miss Bergman. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Mary Capitola and Miss Mary Capitola.

The bride-elect was showered with many lovely gifts of a personal nature.

Mrs. Frank Sanfilippo and Mrs. Charles Scaglione, the bridal couple-elect's parents, were present as special guests.

Miss Sanfilippo, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sanfilippo, of 621 Spruce street, and Charles W. Scaglione, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Scaglione, of the New Castle-Ellwood road, will pledge wedding vows at an open church wedding to take place in St. Joseph's church, December 2, at 9 o'clock a.m.

OLD TIME REBEKAHS HAVE TUREEN DINNER

Old Time Rebekahs were received at the home of Mrs. Prudence Hay, English avenue, for a tureen dinner.

At 12:30 a delicious dinner was served to 12 members. A business meeting was held later, followed by games with prizes going to Mrs. Lona Gray and Mrs. Ella Dunlap.

The next meeting will be held in the form of a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Mildred Crowe and Mrs. Annie Crowe, 1016 Dewey avenue.

ECONOMICS COUNCIL TO MEET MONDAY

Members of the Council of Home Economics Women will meet Monday evening, November 20 in the Jameson Memorial Hospital Nurses' home, Wilmington avenue. Hostesses of the evening will be Mrs. Joseph Friedheim, Mrs. William Brandon, Miss Ann Rice and Mrs. Frank Leonard.

Guest speaker of the event will be Mrs. Marion Wilson of near Zelienople who will discuss dolls and display examples of her numerous dolls.

Twins Are Charged With Failure To Register For Draft

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—(INS)—A thousand dollar bond was furnished today for Paul and David Seaver, 18-year-old twins and scholarship freshmen at Haverford college, who are charged with failing to register under the selective service act.

FBI agents said the youths surrendered to U. S. Commissioner Henry P. Carr in Philadelphia after warrants had been issued for their arrest at their home in Prospectville, Montgomery county.

The warrants charged them with failing to register with their Norristown draft board on March 20, the day following their 18th birthday.

Carr set the bail of $500 each, which was furnished by a friend, despite their counsel's plea that they were conscientious objectors and members of the Friends meeting at Plymouth.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Edward A. Kallick explained that "these boys have not been asked to serve in the armed forces. We believe that they are legitimate conscientious objectors refusing combat service.

"However, they are required to register under our laws. They are attempting to hold themselves apart as individual judges or perhaps martyrs in opposing these laws.

"I can't agree that they should be treated in any manner different from others who have appeared here on the same charges. I don't apologize for having arrested them."

Steel Construction On New Field House Has Been Started

A small steel delivery last week end has made possible further construction on Westminster's new field house.

The possibility of playing late season games in the new building may yet be realized. There is now enough steel available for the playing area itself, and should an enclosure be built to permit working inside, and other conditions remain suitable, the field house may yet be host this year to "name" teams.

Music Club Chorus To Rehearse Monday

Members of the Music Club Chorus will have their regular weekly rehearsal Monday evening at 7:30 in the Y.W.C.A. auditorium, in preparation for the presentation of Handel's oratorio "The Messiah" on Sunday evening, Dec. 10, at 8 o'clock in the Scottish Rite Cathedra. auditorium.

Miss Midred Kelley, secretary, urges all singers to come and enjoy the singing of the oratorio. Miss Anna Dietterle, librarian, will have copies of the oratorio available.

GIRL SCOUTS

Girl Scout Troop 35

Members of the Girl Scout Troop 35 met recently at the East Brook high school. New officers were elected, with Carole Chernyavsky, president; Sue McKnight, secretary; Joan Sniezek, treasurer; and timekeeper, Eleanor Jones.

During the activities period the girls worked on their tenderfoot requirements and made knots.

Girl Scout Troop 45

Intermediate Girl Scouts of troop 45 met recently at the Rose avenue school, with president, Carol McKee, conducting business.

Plans were made for a Thanksgiving party, with a refreshment committee appointed to take care of arrangements. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Nov. 21, at the school, with the girls to make favors for their party.

Andy Barko, magazine salesman, of Wilson, today was fined $10, by Mayor John F. Haven in police court, and his license to sell magazines in New Castle was revoked, because of his alleged annoyances to housewives in making sales.

New Castle Triplets Are Now Twelve Years Old

It's twelve years for New Castle's well known triplets—the Johnson triplets.

Tomorrow, Sunday, November 19, Clara Mae, Gertrude Ann and Thomas Matthew Johnson will be twelve years of age. It's a far cry from that day, when the three little infants were ushered into the world at the New Castle hospital.

Party At School

Although the triplets' birthday isn't until Sunday, the seventh and eighth grade classes of the SS. Philip and James' school "threw" a birthday party for them Friday afternoon during the school week. It wasn't much of a surprise, for every year the "triplets' get a party, replete with all the good things that go with a birthday party.

The triplets themselves entertained the audience with songs and dances. Now they are young ladies and a young man and their list of accomplishments increases as the years go on.

The class presented the girls with beautiful dresses and Thomas Matthew received a shirt. They responded graciously speaking a few words.

Dr. Nathan N. Ginsburg, the physician who brought the triplets into the world was present and he spoke words of gladness and encouragement. Sister M. Borgia, the sister who assisted when the triplets were born was also present and spoke. Rev. Fr. V. V. Stancelewski, pastor of the church also made brief remarks.

All in all it was a wonderful birthday party for the children! A local bakery sent three huge birthday cakes to make the party complete. Students from the fifth and sixth grades later came to the party and entertianed with additional songs and dances. And as usual aferwards there was the serving of the heaping dishes of ice cream and cake and the goodies of a birthday party.

Clara Mae, Gertrude Ann and Thomas Matthew are in the seventh grade in school. They are good pupils, eager to learn and studious. They are the children of Stanley Johnson and reside in the New Castle Boro. Their mother passed away several years ago.

World Day Of Prayer Fund Is Used Wisely

New Castle United Council of Church Women, of which Mrs. J. F. Rentz is president, is planning for the World Day of Prayer, which will be observed Friday, February 9.

Half of the offerings given in the United States on the World Day of Prayer will be used in helping the American Indians, the sharecroppers and migrants. The other half is contributed to the Foreign Missions Conference of North America.

The money will aid in Christian education in the government Indian schools of the United States and Alaska. Native Indian Christian leaders will be trained. Some of the funds will be used in literacy work on the Navajo reservation, where 65,000 Indians are 80 per cent illiterate.

Work in This Country

Pastors and church women leaders among the Negro sharecroppers in the rural south will be trained in techniques of church-centered community development and Christian family life. Rural church departments in Negro colleges and theological seminaries will also be developed.

It is hoped that more agricultural migrant families will be reached in 23 states, one-tenth of the total number being reached now. Employers, public agencies and local communities will be stimulated to give essential and educational services and a sense of Christian community to these two and a half million workers.

Work in Foreign Lands

Christian literature for women and children in India, Burma, China, Japan, Egypt, Africa and Latin America will be distrubuted in those countries. More work will be done by the committee on friendly relations among foreign students in America.

Education of Christian leaders in interdenominational Christian colleges of the Orient will be furthered. These schools include the following: Women's Christian college, Madras; St. Christopher's Training college, Madras; Vellore Christian Medical college and Isabella Thoburn college, Lucknow, all in India.

Aid will also go to Tokyo Woman's college, Japan, and Cheeloo university, Tsinan, Yenching university, Peiping, and Ginling college, Nanking, all in China.

Alliance Revival Opens Second Week

Second week of the revival series which is in progress at the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street, will open on Sunday with Rev. Calvin J. Peters of Rochester, N.Y., speaking both morning and evening.

Sunday at 11 a.m., Rev. Peters will speak on the subject, "The More Excellent Way" while at 7:30 p.m., "God's Great Red Light" will be his theme. The pastor, Rev. George Jones will conduct the services, with special music to be presented by the young people. The services will continue through next week at 7:30 p.m. with the exception of Monday evening. There will be a service at the church this evening.

The world's first "lonely hearts" convention took place September 23, 1950, at Whitney Bay, England.

St. John's Lutheran Will Have Speaker

The annual public thankoffering service, sponsored by the missionary societies of St. John's Lutheran church, will be observed Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock in the church.

The speaker will be Mrs. Robert S. Kinsey, of Greenville. The subject of her address will be "No More Palestine." Mrs. Kinsey is the wife of Dr. Robert S. Kinsey, associate professor of Bible at Thiel college. The Kinseys spent the summer in the Holy Land, where Dr. Kinsey was a member of an archeological study group. Mrs. Kinsey has a fund of first hand information of conditions in Palestine.

The service will be in charge of Mrs. C. W. Herman Hess, of the Women's Missionary society, assisted by Miss Virginia Kerber, president of the Catherin Von Boro Missionary society. Various members from the missionary groups will participate in the program.

Rev. Mark Mitchell To Close Services

Rev Mark L. Mitchell Canton, Ohio evangelist closes his special campaign at the Grace Bible church this Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. He will preach the sermon which he gave at Charleston, W. Va., recently at the Ohio State Convention of churches and which was widely heralded as an outstanding message for this hour.

The message will be taken down by wire recording for the purpose of printing it in booklet form to wide spread demand for it in print.

Epworth Methodists To See Film Sunday

Plans have been made to show 'Out of the Night," a new dramatic film, Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock in Epworth Methodist church. The moving picture, which is a sound and color film, is based upon actual incidents.

State Police Say:

Are you a gambler in traffic? Do you take those little chances to save a few seconds of time? If you do, we think we can prove that it doesn't pay. For example, the average future lifetime of the sixteen-year-old (the minimum driving age), is 50.5 years. In each year there are 525,600 minutes. So when the sixteen-year old takes a chance in traffic to save one minute of time, he gambles with the odds 26,-542,800 to 1 against him. The man 35 years of age has odds of 17,518,250 to 1 against him because he has a little more than 33 years to live in his normal life span. A man 50 years of age, with 21 years still ahead of him, gambles with the odds 11,053,370 to 1 and a good chance to lose. So, enjoy yourself, but safely, it may be later than you think.

DESSERT SURPRISES FOR THANKSGIVING

Dessert, whether it is traditional pumpkin or mince pie or something new, is an important part of the Thanksgiving dinner.

Usually the holiday dinner is so large that everyone is too full to enjoy dessert. Instead of making the family uncomfortable, serve Thanksgiving dessert later in the afternoon, perhaps in the living room.

If you prefer dessert served with the meal, try a light fruity sherbert, chilled fresh fruit, or a lemon sponge pudding.

Steamed craneberry pudding, frozen apple cream, spicy craneberry ice cream, or open-face tarts with a variety of fillings like mince, pumpkin, pecan, apple, or peach will give the family a festive holiday dessert time.

For Thanksgiving treat, try this dessert:

"Frozen Apple Cream"
(8 servings)

2 tablespoons gelatin
½ cup cold water
2 cups sweetened applesauce
2 cups whipping cream
¼ cup sugar
Dash of cinamon or nutmeg or both.

Soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes, then dissolve over hot water. Add to applesauce. Allow mixture to cool. Whip cream; add sugar, cinnamon, or nutmeg, then fold into applesauce mixture. Pour into freezing tray; freeze until firm. Break into chunks. Turn into chilled bowl and beat smooth with electric or rotary beater. Return to freezing tray; freeze until firm.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

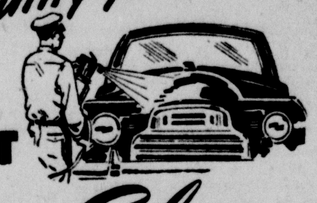

King George III of England, who has been cast as the deep-dyed villain of the American Revolution in school texts for generations, is recognized today by sober historians as a man who was on the verge of insanity all his life, and actually, in his last years, had to be watched constantly by strong-armed attendants.

In a rare moment of lucidity, he said mournfully, "We really meant well by those Americans. Just to punish them with a few bloody noses, and then make bows for the mutual happiness of the two countries. But want of principle got into the army, want of energy and skill in the admiralty, and wan of unanimity at home. We lost America. I never shall see Lord North (George's unfortunate prime minister in 1776) again!"

Emily Hahn gives the fresh picture of George III in her new book, "A Degree of Prudery." She also tells of his tribulations with his penurious and graceless Queen Charlotte. One day he met a notoriously homely lady at a court function, stared at her in disbelief, and chortled loudly, "Good God! She's even uglier than the Queen!"

Civil Defense State Leaders In Conference

HARRISBURG, Nov 18.—(INS)—Key civil defense leaders in Pennsylvania planned for the possibility that a campaign of vigil against enemy attack may have to continue for as long as 50 years.

Warning to expect "the long haul" in a defense program was issued by Maj. Gen. Richard K. Mellon, chief of the commonwealth's military and civil defense commission.

Mellon told 750 county and municipal directors at a one-day conference in Harrisburg that the civilian defense program will be kept alive indefinitely.

"It may be one, five or 50 years," he said, adding that it will not be terminated "as long as a world power seeks to dominate the universe through violence or threats of violence."

Face Grave Danger

Gov. James H. Duff told the defense leaders that they must develop a "tremendous public relations campaign to warn Pennsylvanians of the great danger we are presently facing."

"In the event of an attack, Pennsylvania undoubtedly would be one of the choice targets for enemy bombs," Duff said.

Yet, he said, "the public is less aware today of the danger facing them than it was at the start of the Korean war."

Publicity, plant protection and air raid warning were described by Col. Alton C. Miller, state civil defense director, as the three top priority divisions of the state program.

Pointing up the importance of industrial defense, Miller explained the entire defense program "could well become academic" if strategic industries were lost because then a war also would be lost.

Must Concentrate American Power In European Area

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of staff of the U. S. air force, called on Friday for "an armed peace thru diplomacy and power" as "the only rational hope for survival."

Vandenberg spoke at the fifth annual convention of the National Association of Radio News Directors (at the Sherman hotel) in Chicago. He added:

"The task is made more difficult by our traditional aversion to power politics in the world. Although rivalry complicates the individual lives of all mankind, we would prefer that it need not blight so sacred an institution as the nation-state.

"As a result, too many Americans have draped the world in a chintzy illusion of brotherhood, believing that nations can outlaw struggle over a friendly cup of tea."

The air force chief urged an end to "the myth of unavoidable conflict" but cautioned that "it is difficult to believe that war can be averted through early or foreseeable agreement".

He said American power must be concentrated in Europe "because communist successes elsewhere might alarm the free world, but communist success in Europe could destroy it" and called an armed peace "too long a path to be traveled by those whose resolution must be recharged with the passing of each fiscal year."

Strike-Bound Plant Prepares To Move

MT. HOLLY, N. J., Nov. 18 — (INS) — The strike-bound Arrow Safety Device Company will close its Mt. Holly plant and move to another state.

The plant, which manufactures automobile parts, has been closed since Nov. 7 when an independent union, which claims to represent most of the firm's 200 employes, struck for higher wages.

Roy Stevens, plant manager, said the directors voted to liquidate assets at a meeting.

Home-Concocted Stage. A Weekend Item

There may be some children who have never tried to put on a play, but if so, they're few and far between. Out in the barn, in the backyard or in the playroom the young actors play their parts from the time they're three or four years of age.

And here's an idea for a sure-enough stage that will make play-acting great fun for the youngsters. Though there are all sorts of variations that can be rung in, the basic idea is simple. The curtain—a couple of blankets or pieces of cloth that can be spared—is hung from picture wire and stitched across the corner of the room. The kind of fasteners that are used to hang shower curtains work very well as pullers. Or even large blanket pins can do the job. No damage need be done to the room, for the wire can be fastened to the molding with screw eyes.

And if the grocer is a good friend of the family, he may be willing to save wooden boxes for you that will be sturdy enough, when put side by side, to make a stage. Large sheets of Manila paper or even newspapers can be used as scenery. Poster paints, heavy scissors and various odds and ends will enable the stage manager for the family or neighborhood show to do a bang-up job.

Walmo P.T.A. Has Red Cross Program

Members of the Walmo Parent-Teachers' association met Wednesday evening at the school, with Mrs. Robert O. McCullough conducting business.

Mrs. McCullough introduced Mrs. George Marquis, program chairman, who presented Dr. W. E. Goodpastor, pathologist at the Jameson Memorial hospital, guest speaker who discussed blood typing and blood bank storage. He stated the definite need of blood donors.

Mrs. Kay Paytas of the local Red Cross showed the film "Life In Your Hands." Members of the unit were blood typed for future classification, with Mrs. Paytas assisted by Mrs. Florence Moore, technician at the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Refreshments were served later, with Mrs. Lawrence McKnight as chairman of the hospitality committee.

Salvation Army To Conduct Youth Rally

SECOND MARRIAGE FOR BOTH

"Both my fiance's wife and my husband died over a year ago and we plan to be married very soon. I should like the following questions answered: Is the omission of attendants at the ceremony correct? Are announcements of the marriage sent? If so, how should they be worded? Does the bride wear flowers? What color?"

Answer: You may have two attendants if you wish—a maid of honor and a best man—or you may omit both if you so choose, unless they are necessary for the validity of the marriage in your church.

You may send out announcements if you care to. There is no obligation, however. It is optional. If you are mature, you and the groom may announce your own marriage thus:

Mrs. John Jones and
Mr. Robert Porter
have the honour to announce their marriage, etc., etc.

If, however, you are a young widow, your parents may issue announcements as they did for your first marriage, thus:

Mr. and Mrs. Algernon Smith have the honour to announce the marriage of their daughter Mary Smith Jones
to
Mr. Robert Porter
etc., etc.

Since you will doubtless wear a pastel dress or suit, choose a shoulder corsage to harmonize with your ensemble.

Eric Von Stroheim Wins Fight For U.S. Citizenship

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(INS)—Eric Von Stroheim, actor, director and writer of movie fame, won his fight Friday to retain the American citizenship granted him in 1926.

The State Department agreed to extend his passport for an indefinite period because he is unable to return to the U. S. within the five-year set by law as the limit in which a naturalized citizen can remain outside the U. S.

Earlier, in a strict interpretation of the law, the department had ruled that Von Stroheim must return to the U. S. by Dec. 5, or forfeit his rights as a naturalized American citizen.

The department said it reversed its findings on the basis of "new evidence" which Von Stroheim recently presented. He pleaded that he could no longer get work in the U. S. because his foreign accent had become a liability since the arrival of sound movies.

Buffer Zone In North Korea Is Not Believed Wise

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(INS)—Korean Foreign Minister Col. Ben C. Limb declared today that establishment of a buffer zone between North Korea and Manchuria would be "very unwise."

He told a news conference that "every inch of the ground belongs to Korea and the war is being fought to regain that territory and make it free."

Furthermore, Limb said a neutral strip in which there would be no soldiers would be equally unwise. He declared that the Manchurians for years have been known for their banditry. He said to leave a strip completely unguarded would be to invite trouble.

Limb told newsmen that the government of President Syngman Rhee would not oppose an interim United Nations administration in North Korea pending ultimate general elections.

Most scientists agree that no one is 100 per cent male or 100 per cent female.

EAST BROOK

BIRTHDAY PARTY

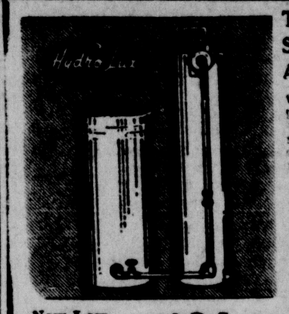

At the home of Erla Fennick of East Brook, a group of friends gathered recently to honor the birthday anniversary of Miss Fennick and her friend Janet Davis' anniversary.

Various games were the pastime of the evening. The girls received many lovely gifts.

A tasty lunch was served by Mrs. Jonathan Fennick and her daughter Wilda.

THANKOFFERING

Thankoffering service will be observed Sunday morning, November 19, at East Brook U. P. church, with Mrs. Dela Smith of New Castle, the guest speaker.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 18.—Since directing Laurence Olivier in "Carrie," William Wyler hopes that more actor-directors come his way.

Before the filming of the Theodore Rreiser story began, there were some who expected fireworks when the Wyler-Olivier combination got together.

Olivier acted and starred in the monumental films, "Hamlet" and "Henry V." Wyler's "Best Years of Our Lives" won an academy award in 1946, the same year that Olivier got one for 'Henry V" to make them competitors in a way.

No Headaches

Wyler said that there was not a single headache on his set and that Olivier made many valuable suggestions. The combination was equally pleasing to Olivier.

"I have been directing myself for the past five years," he said, "and I thought it would be good for me to have a change. I do find it much easier to work now than I did before since I understand more clearly what is wanted. But, believe me, I am the most docile actor Wyler exer decorated."

EXPENSIVE WARDROBE

In all of her years of movie making, Claudette Colbert has never had such an inexpensive wardrobe as she wears in "Bonaventure," her current starring vehicle for Universal-International.

Claudette, whose usual glamor roles often make a picture look like a fashion show, goes through the entire action of the picture in a nun's black habit which, including the shoes, cost $50.

The actress will spend eight consecutive weeks in the nun's habit in her role of Sister Mary Bonaventure who solves one of England's most famous murder mysteries.

WILL GET SURPRISE

It will be at least another month before Bette Davis glimpses herself in "All About Eve," the 20th Century-Fox film which is expected to earn her third Oscar next March.

The star promised her new hubby, Gary Merrill, that she would not see the film until he rejoins her. The two appear as lovers in the film and were married as soon as the picture was completed.

Gary currently is in Germany appearing in "Legion of the Damned." When the picture opened in Hollywood in the flossiest premier in years, Bette was on hand but she did not peek at the picture. She sat around in the projection room chatting with the projectionists until the show was over.

Griff Thomas To Tell Of European Trip

Griff Thomas, who recently returned from an extended visit to Europe, will speak Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the First Congregational church. He will speak on some of the "Trends in the Land of Our Tradition," stressing the economic and religious life as observed on his trip.

Mr. Thomas, president of the board of deacons of the Southside church, has served as precentor for many years.

Wampum District Soldier Wounded

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cunningham, of the Smiley Stop-Chewton road, R. D. 1, Wampum, have received word from the Department of Defense, that their son, Cpl. Wayne C. Cunningham, was wounded in action in Korea, on October 26.

They have also received a letter from their son, who is now in a U. S. Military hospital in Seoul, telling about the circumstances. Cpl. Cunningham, who is a member of the 6th Medium Tank Bn., received his injuries, a shoulder wound, in the encirclement by the Chinese Reds on October 26.

He arrived overseas on August 26, 1950 and was attached to the First Cavalry Division, but later his unit was sent to help out the 24th Division, and it was while serving with them that he was wounded.

NEW BEDFORD

LADIES NIGHT AT LIONS CLUB

On Wednesday evening seventy-two Lions and their wives who were special guests enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner served by the ladies of the grange. George Cunningham with his entertainers from West Middlesex presented a variety program. The group includes three vocalists, a pianist and a comedy dance team. Father Kane of St. James parish spoke briefly but inspiringly using as his theme: "Thanksgiving." After the program the remainder of the evening was spent square dancing with an orchestra playing and John Klamer calling. Both the ladies and the men agreed that this was a gala affair.

GIRL SCOUTS

Last Friday night the two Girl Scout Troops, 49 and 32, met for their regular business session. When the meeting adjourned Donald Root arrived to take the girls on a hay ride. For the next few nights the older group will make stuffed toys and dolls. The latter will be used by the Salvation Army.

Dr. J. L. Kelso Will Be Speaker On Sunday At First U.P. Church

Dr. James L. Kelso, Mt. Lebanon, professor of Old Testament at Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary, will speak Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the thank offering service in the First United Presbyterian church.

Dr. Kelso recently returned from Palestine, where he was president of the American School of Oriental Research. Under his direction archeological information of great Biblical significance was uncovered near the Old Testament City of Jerusalem.

Dr. Kelso has made five expeditions to the Holy Land. Four months of digging during his last trip uncovered large buildings, gardens as well as art work that definitely establish the site as the one of the New Testament City of Jericho, built about the time of Christ's birth.

The main cultural value of the discovery is that it shows Roman influence in the Near East was much greater than people realize. in the Near East" as his theme for Dr. Kelso has chosen "The Church in the Near East" as his theme for Sunday's service.

New Castle Lions club will have its regular weekly luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Tuesday noon. The speaker will be Rev. Fr. Albert Inteso, assistant pastor of St. Vitus church, who will bring a Thanksgiving message.

Roy F. Conway, secretary.

Rev. H. Bielenberg, pastor of the Christ Lutheran church, of Oil City, Pa., will be the speaker at Wednesday noon's luncheon meeting, of the New Castle Kiwanis club. Besides being a minister of the gospel, Rev. Bielenberg is also an outstanding amateur color photographer, and has reecived top listing in "Who's Who in Color Photography," by the Photographic Society of America, of which he is a member.

Says Acheson Is Reaping Blame For Roosevelt's Actions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—A Senate foreign policy expert said today that State Secretary Acheson is reaping the blame for the late President Roosevelt's poor judgement of Russia.

Sen. Fulbright (D) Ark., coming to the defense of Acheson, said he considers the secretary a "very able man" who combines "intelligence with experience in the State Department."

In commenting on post-election demands for Acheson's ouster by leading Republicans Fulbright said:

"I can't feel but what a lot of our trouble with Russia goes back much further than the Acheson regime. The basic misjudgement on what Russia would do and be goes back to the Roosevelt days.

"I believe it is generally agreed that Mr. Roosevelt kept tight rein on the State Department.

"It was believed then that Russia would be willing to try to work out a peaceful world—that they would go their way and we ours.

"These were mistakes in judgement for which Mr. Acheson is catching the blame. I don't know where we would get a better secretary of State—I don't know who the Republicans have in mind."

Termites, when eaten, are said to taste like roasted chestnuts.

St. Lucy Sodality Communion Sunday

Members of the Holy Rosary and Sacred Heart Sodality will meet at 7:15 o'clock, Sunday morning, in St. Lucy's auditorium in preparation to attend 7:30 mass, and receive Holy Communion in a body. Mrs. Rose Leone, president.

Immaculate Group Has Bowling Party

A bowling party was enjoyed by members of the Immaculate Conception Sodality recently, on Neshannock avenue.

High bowling score was won by Carmella Colli, and consolation prize was awarded to Clara Leone.

Later, the group adjourned to a local tea room for a tasty lunch.

Justine DeCaprio, social life chairman, was in charge of arrangements. Next meeting, Sunday, December 3, at St. Lucy's auditorium, at 2 o'clock.

Community Chest Campaign Soon Ends

Mrs. G. G. Horchler, chairman of the seventh ward campaign for the Community Chest, reports that the quota has been reached.

There are still a few more persons to be heard from during the next few days, when the campaign will be closed.

Crusaders Meet With Mrs. Doris Evans

At the home of Mrs. Doris Evans of 901 West Clayton street, members of the Crusade Bible Class of Madison Avenue Christian church, assembled on Friday evening. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Evans.

The roll call was answered with a verse of scripture. Book of Romans was discussed, led by Miss Grace Kelly.

Business session was in charge of Miss Kelly. Plans were made for a special offering to the Seay Memorial Children's Home at Sunbury, Pa.

Games were the pastime of the evening. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, with Miss Ann Evans as her aide.

Next meeting of the group will be entertained in the home of Mrs. Earl Turk of 809 West Clayton street, Friday, December 15.

Seventh Ward Notes

Mr. and Mrs. John Prattley and son, Johnny, of Youngstown, left for England on Thursday, aboard the Cunard lines Brittanic, where they expect to visit for about a year. The Prattley family have been visiting for the past six weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ransom K. Barris, Mt. Jackson road, and have resided in the United States for three years.

The 4-203 class at Mahoning School will put on a Thanksgiving play called "Mr. Rabbit's Best Thanksgiving" next Wednesday, November 22.

This evening, a spaghetti supper will be served in St. Margaret's hall, North Liberty street, at 6:30, for the benefit of New Castle hospital. Nick Cangey and Mrs. Rose Zarilla, are co-chairmen of event.

At Mahoning School, Mrs. Whieldon's first graders are selecting the characters for their Christmas play called "Calico Cat."

Fourth Ward Chest Workers Honored At Luncheon Party

All divisions of the Community Chest campaign have been working fast and furiously to get their group "over the top" first!

With $5,000 as a goal for which to work, the fourth ward workers of the Community Chest were successful in realizing over $700, and this amount was collected in a month's time.

To honor the group for their all-out efforts, Mrs. George Sherman of 916 Warren avenue, entertained the ladies in her home Friday afternoon at a luncheon. Mrs. Ethel Rentz Ferver, head of the Woman's Division of the Chest Campaign, presented Mrs. Sherman with a lovely hostess gift.

Relating the experiences they had while canvassing were Mrs. Charles Gee, Mrs. L. M. Christie, Mrs. Carlos Teel, Mrs. Clyde Hennon, Mrs. W. H. Schoenfield, Mrs. Francis O'Laughlin and Mrs. R. J. Benson.

Pittsburgh Daily Newspapers Are Published Again

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Pittsburgh's three daily newspapers resumed publication today after a 47-day shut down caused by the strike of two of their unions.

The morning Post-Gazette published a fat, 48-page paper. The afternoon Sun-Telegraph and Press were getting back into publication with Saturday editions, to be followed by Sunday papers.

The more than half a million readers were pleased with the return to normalcy. During the strike, they depended on radio stations, a paper published by the idle union members and out-of-town papers—when they could get them—for their news.

Special Program At Volant Church

Success was attained by the Volant Methodist auxiliary at its first bazaar held since its organization a year ago. The affair was held Thursday evening in the church basement following a most amusing program which was presented in the church.

Charles Lutton of Ellwood City was introduced by Jack Wallace, church school superintendent, who acted as MC. Rev. H. A. Silvis opened the meeting with a few words of welcome and presented Wallace. Luttons' program of puppet plays was very well received, two playlets being staged. They were Little Red Riding Hood and Horace Wise's Talent Scouts. Lutton, who is a lad in his early teens, manipulates the dolls and takes all talking himself. All who saw the program found it most amusing.

Robert Clarke, a Volant boy, played two piano solos, "The Gypsy's Serenade" and "The Garden of Tomorrow". He is also a boy in his early teens, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clarke.

Mrs. Walter Lesnett served as accompanist for congregational singing which was led by Paul Shaw.

Mrs. L. Balsiger Taken By Death

Mrs. Sara Clark Balsiger, aged 56 years, wife of Louis Balsiger, 7065 Northeast Irving street, Portland, Ore., died of a heart attack Friday evening at 9 o'clock. She had been ill for some time. Word of her death was received here today.

Mrs. Balsiger was a former resident of this city.

In addition to her husband, she leaves a son, Richard, of Grenoble, France, and a daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Bradley, and a grandson.

Burial will take place in Portland Monday.

Shenango P.T.A. Meets At School

Members of the Shenango Parent-Teachers' Association met Thursday evening in the school auditorium, with the president, Mrs. Abner DeChant, conducting business.

Thomas Cunningham, guest speaker, discussed, "Flower Arrangement and Interior Decoration" stressing the fundamentals of arranging and displaying flowers. As he spoke, Mr. Cunningham made several novelties and Christmas centerpieces, with two arrangements later awarded to Mrs. Weisbaker and Mrs. Kennedy.

During the business session, Mrs. DeChant read a letter from the National Congress of Parents and Teachers who wanted the opinion of all P.T.A. units on the questions of federal aid for education and national defense problem. Mrs. DeChant stated that over 7,000,000 people will voice their opinion on these problems.

The attendance banner for parent representation was won by Mrs. Allen's class.

The unit will have an auction on November 28 at the school, with parents to contact the room mothers with donations. Group singing was later led by Sam McCullough. A Christmas party will feature the December meeting, with each person to bring a twenty-five cent gift.

Refreshments were later served by the social committee with Mrs. Clyde Daugherty as chairlady, and assisted by the ladies of the Ellwood road and Castlewood.

South Side Pastors Name New Officers

Members of the South Side Ministerial Association met during the week for their regular monthly business session and annual election of officers. The following officers were elected for the year: president, Rev. Earl E. Collins; vice president, Rev. James N. Rainey; secretary-treasurer, Rev. Francis C. Johannides.

Plans were completed at the meeting for the annual union Thanksgiving service of the South Side churches. The meeting will be conducted Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Primitive Methodist church. Chairman of the meeting will be Rev. W. W. Vasey, pastor of the host church.

Rev. James Rainey of the Central Christian church will conduct devotions, with Mrs. F. P. Sulmonetti offering the prayer of Thanksgiving. Rev. Earl Collins will conduct the prayer and praise service. The offeratory prayer will be by Lorena Maynard of the Free Methodist church. Phyrn Ketzel of the Hoover Heights Alliance will sing and Rev. R. L. Kuhn, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist church will bring the Thanksgiving message. The benediction will be by Rev. Thomas J. Jones of the Congregational church.

THANK OFFERING SERVICE

The annual thank offering service of the Methodist WSCS was held Wednesday night in the church auditorium.

The program opened with the sining of the hymn "Pass Me Not Oh Gentle Savior" in unison, followed with prayer by Mrs. John Allen. Mrs. Earl Grinnen read the scripture.

Musical selections were a solo, "The Lost Chord" by Mrs. Edward Butler; a trio, "His Yoke Is Easy", by Mrs. Harry Huffman, Miss Ann Davis and Charles Davis, and a piano solo by Mrs. Clair Houk.

After the singing of "Come Ye Thankful People" by the group, an interesting book review of "The White Witch Doctor" was given by Miss Hazel Wenkhouse of Enon. The closing hymn "Now the Day Is Over", was sung by the group.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Officers for the ensuing year were elected when the Kings Daughters class of the Presbyterian church met Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Howard Evans on Main street.

Those named to serve were Mrs. Charles Christopher, president; Mrs. Milton Flint, vice-president; Mrs. Carmen Leopardi, secretary, and Mrs. Evans, treasurer.

During the business session conducted by Mrs. John Marshall, president, plans were made for a Christmas party next month. Devotionals were led by Mrs. Lee Hilliard.

Following a social period a delicious lunch was served by the hostess and her committee, Mrs. Francis Hennon, Mrs. Hartley Allen and Mrs. Keith McKim. A Thankshgiving motif was carried out in the serving of the lunch.

CLUB ENTERTAINED

Members of the Gabetz club were pleasantly entertained Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Cunningham on Kay street. Mrs. Thomas Cody, Jr., was cohostess.

Five hundred was the diversion with the high score award going to Mrs. Robert Ippolito and the low score favor to Mrs. Cody. Mrs. J. D. MacDonald captured the travel token.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close of the games. Thanksgiving appointments were carried out at the lunch tables.

GUESTS OF AUXILIARY

Mesdames William Sanders, Ray McBride, J. C. MacDonald, Lloyd Cunningham, James Cook, Charles Aiken, Charles Kelley, Milton Flint, Thomas Cody, Jr., and Earl Grinnen of the local American Legion auxiliary were guests Tuesday night of the Ellwood City Legion auxiliary.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING

Two films, one on "Our Heritage" and the other on home decorations, were screened by I. V. Holmes on Thursday afternoon at the meeting of the Woman's club in the Presbyterian church.

Routine business was conducted and reports of the Christmas party arrangements were given.

TO PRESENT PLAY

The senior class of Wampum high school is rehearsing for its class play. "Aunt Tillie Goes To Town," by William Braun, is a hilarious comedy in three acts. It will be presented on Tuesday, November 21, at 8 p. m. in the high school gymnasium.

Characters are as follows:

The play is under the direction of Miss Margaret Rishel.

GIRLS GROUP MEETS

Assembling Thursday night at the home of Miss Linnea Anderson, the Young Girls group of the Methodist WSCS held its regular meeting.

The mission story, "Just Me", was given by Miss Rose Marie Clark, leader. Miss Bonnie Mohr read the scripture. All of the girls participated in relating missionary stories of China and in a Bible quiz.

Miss Carol Mohr, president, conducted the business session. Plans were made for a gift exchange at the December meeting. The group also decided to have a handkerchief showed for the Ruth M. Smith Orphanage at Stoneboro.

Games and contests were the diversions and at a late hour the hostess aided by her mother, Mrs. P. L. Anderson, and her sister, Mrs. James Hazen, served a delicious lunch.

Miss Henrietta Davis will entertain the group at her home for the December session.

TRUCKING IS BIG BUSINESS DONE IN SMALL PACKAGES
Because trucking operations are usually in relatively small concerns, the bigness of the industry is sometimes overlooked.
What does the trucking industry mean to Lawrence County? The investment here over all is $16,379,630. There are 4886 vehicles registered and 3899 men and women employed gainfully in the business. Wages and salaries paid in 1949 totalled $10,800,230.
The trucking industry in Lawrence County, paid $175,564 in license fees, $228,763 in state gas tax and $89,634 in federal gas taxes. The trucking industry paid $76,616 in local real estate taxes, $164,678 in state taxes and $853,646 in Federal taxes.
Sounds like big business doesn't it? It is. But in so many small packages that sometimes you may overlook the vastness of it all and the economic worth to this county.

Twenty-Eight Players Drafted By Major League Clubs

Older Talent Selected Over Young Bonus Stars

By WARREN BROWN
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 — Major League baseball's policy makers gave every evidence at the Cincinnati draft meeting that the war "shakes" have begun to affect them.

The 28 players dredged up from the Minor Leagues were practically all selected because of the distinct possibility that they would be available for baseball indefinitely, either because of age or previous military service, while younger and perhaps more promising talent would be tapped by a draft of much more importance.

Follow Patterns

That was the marked characteristic of the 1950 player draft. It followed, logically enough, that practically all of the players would be snatched from the triple A's. It may have come as a bit of a shock to President Clarence Rowland to find that there were but seven picked from his old folks' home, the Pacific coast league, whereas nine were taken from the American Association.

Rowland and his legal adviser, Leslie O'Connor, have been arguing for a rating for the coast league higher than accorded the association and the International League because of this player draft "evil." The 9 to 7 score, with the International qualifying 6, would indicate that in the judgment of Major League policy makers, at least, the coast league as a talent source isn't as good as the association and not strikingly better than the International.

Chicago Clubs Active

I suppose we should all be properly proud of the fact that the Chicago clubs drafted more players than anyone else at the meeting, with the exception of Washington, whose three selections tied the Cubs' count. The White Sox, in picking four players, led the field.

In looking over the great unknowns that the Cubs and White Sox have singled out, I find the name of Jack Cusick, a shortstop who served at Houston and Beaumont last season the most interesting. Cusick played in 115 games and hit .234.

That goes to show how little a man sitting before a typewriter really knows about a ball clubs' needs.

Prior to the draft at Cincinnati, I would have expressed a firm conviction that the Cubs did not need another .234 hitting shortstop. They have one, already. As a matter of fact I didn't think the Cubs needed any more .234 hitters at any position since the lineup I last saw in action less than two months ago had an over abundance of such.

Mt. Jackson Hi Has Rebuilding Job For Season

Coach Franny Webster has a job of rebuilding to do at Mt. Jackson high school before the Mounties start their 1951 league season.

Gone from last year's team are high scoring Pat Kerr, Dick Martin, Keith Macek, Bob Rogers and Bob McCullough. Only regular returning is center Bob McKinley.

Others that saw some action last year that will be back are Eli Bianchi, Joe Doutt and Chuck Rogers.

Other boys that hope to crash the starting five are Mervin Stelter, Jack Seltzer, Glen "Huck" Ralston, Richard Gwin, Joe Grist, Dick Hopper and Dick Peloza.

Sophomore Jack Seltzer has looked very good so far and may be Webster's fifth starter. Other sophmore are Joe Grist and Dick Hopper.

Pre-League Schedule

Dec. 2—Springfield township.
Dec. 5—Open.
Dec. 8—At Hickory.
Dec. 15—Evans City.
Dec. 20—Alumni.
Dec. 22—Hickory.
Dec 29—At Evans City.

Schmidt, fleet-footed right halfback, has the highest average gain.

Gavilan Winner By Slight Edge

Inherits Title Held By Robinson

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Kid Gavilan of Cuba had the New York State Athletic Commission's nod today as the heir apparent to Sugar Ray Robinson's welterweight boxing throne.

Gavilan, already a two-time loser to Robinson, decisioned Billy Graham of New York by a whisker last night in a Madison Square Garden ten-rounder. The New York commission had earmarked the number one welter contender, although the National Boxing Association favors Charlie Fusari.

A fast start gained Gavilan a 6-4 nod from both judges, although referee Barney Felix scored the bout a draw. Gavilan weighed 147 to 145 for Graham. There were no knockdowns.

A crowd of 6,567 paid $20,092 as television again deflated the attendance.

Joe Lonnett Now In Army Service

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18 — (INS)—The Phillies' 1951 roster was reduced to 41 players today via a "put-out" by Uncle Sam.

Babe Alexander, Phils' public relations chief, said that catcher Joe Lonnett, of Beaver Falls, Pa., has been drafted.

Alexander reported that the Phils regarded the right-handed hitting backstop as "a great prospect."

Lonnett played for the Phils' Terre Haute, Ind., farm in 1950. Alexander said the catcher already is on duty at Fort Knox, Ky.

Vic Janowicz Predominates INS All-Mid-Western 1950 Grid Team

By KEN OPSTEIN
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Three representatives from Ohio State and two each from Michigan State and Notre Dame won positions today on the 1950 International News Service all-midwestern football team.

Outstanding players from Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Northwestern also were honored with places on the first team.

Winning more votes than any other performer was that jack-of-all-trades and master of all, Vic Janowicz of Ohio State. He was placed in the backfield with Everett (Sonny) Grandelius of Michigan State, Dick Raklovits of Illinois and Bob Williams of Notre Dame.

Center Bob McCullough and tackle Bill Trautwein were the other Ohio State players given recognition.

Michigan State's Don Coleamn ordinarily rocks the opposition from tackle. He was switched to guard, however, since talented guards were few in the midwest this year. Coleman and Grandelius were promoted from last year's second team.

Jim Mutscheller broke the Notre Dame pass-catching record set by famed Leon Hart in 1949 and was awarded a post to receive the tosses from teammate Williams. Mutscheller lives in Beaver Falls, Pa.

Wisconsin's John Simcic earned wide acclaim for his sterling and steady play. He was voted the other guard position.

The dearth of brilliant guards, however, forced the selectors to switch tackle Rudy Cernoch of Northwestern to guard on the second team.

Michigan's Al (Brick) Wahl was stationed at a tackle wtih Trautwein. He replaces a graduated Michigan tackle, Al Wistert, on the all-midwest eleven.

End Don Stonsifer of Northwestern completes the first team. He is cited for his record-breaking pass-catching achievements in the Big Ten.

Injuries robbed halfbacks Johnny Karras of Illinois and Chuck Ortmann of Michigan of their chances of being chosen for the first team. Both are on the second eleven.

Rams And Yanks To Clash Sunday

(By International News Service)

The Los Angeles Rams will be fighting to hold their national conference lead tomorrow as they meet the New York Yanks in the National Football League's game of the week at Yankee stadium.

The Rams defeated the Yanks early in the season, but Los Angeles Coach Joe Stydahar insists he doesn't expect his charges to do it again. If they don't, the Rams probably will drop all the way to third.

Victories for the Yanks and the Chicago Bears — who play San Francisco — would put the two team in a first place tie. Green Bay plays at Detroit in the remaining national conference game.

In the American conference, all three leaders play weak opponents. The Cleveland Browns entertain Washington, the New York Giants play at Baltimore and the Philadelphia Eagles are host to the Chicago cards.

Mohawks And Indians Tangle

(By International News Service)

First place spots in the eastern and western divisions of the American Hockey League may be a bit crowded after three of the four games scheduled for tonight.

Cincinnati's Mohawks, leaders with 26 points in the western sector, play the Springfield Indians while Cleveland's Barons, with 24 points, meet the Buffalo Bisons. A Cleveland win coupled with a Mohawk loss would throw the top spot into a two-way tie.

Meanwhile, the Bisons, leaders with 21 points in the east, will be striving to defeat the Clevelanders to hold their slim one-game lead over the Hershey Bears, who tangle with the New Haven Ramblers.

Victories by Cleveland and Hershey would move the Bears into a deadlock for first with Buffalo, since two points are given for each win.

In the only other game tonight St. Louis plays at Pittsburgh.

Football Dance Attended By 150

Having been hosts at a dance and luncheon to members of the New Castle high school football team, and their girl friends, last night at the Elks home, the Elks Quarterback Club's activities for the 1950 grid season has come to an end.

Approximately 150 persons attended last night's dance.

During the evening, Johnny Sansone, member of the Red and Black eleven, in behalf of the gridders, presented appropriate gifts to Rube Kennedy and Austin Cowmeadow, who were in charge of the club's activities this year.

Music for the dance was provided free by a member of the club who conducts a local orchestra.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

NO ONE in literature has more trials and tribulations than the minister's son but his problems are mild compared to those of the football coaches' offspring.

It isn't only that things are rough at home and around the campus when Dad's team is losing. What if Sonny, being a chip off the old block, wants to play football himself?

Naturally, he'd like to go to the college where his Dad is coaching. But if he does, he may discover the old man isn't too happy about it. Most coaches figure they have troubles enough without having their own sons on the roster.

First thing you know, someone is going to accuse Dad of giving his own son the advantage. So the coach generally leans over backward and winds up being unfair to his son.

This year coaches of two major teams—Army and Southern Methodist—have sons playing key roles. As might be expected, both I. D. Russell of Southern Methodist and Bob Blaik of Army are quarterbacks, having been brought up on football.

Army's Earl Blaik has the reputation of being a hard taskmaster, and he does not spare son Bob. The youngster has the important task of filling the shoes of Arnold Galiffa, the Cadets all-American quarterback.

—o—

BACK IN THE DAYS when Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis were running wild at West Point, nobody was more thrilled than 'teen-age Bob Blaik. In fact, the kid almost made a nuisance of himself hanging around the practice field and locker rooms.

There was no place for Bob but West Point when it came time to start thinking about college. When Bob was playing football in high school and at Exeter academy, his dad saw only five minutes of one game. Mrs. Blaik saw the youngster in action, but Earl paid little attention to her scouting reports.

Then, suddenly Bob was a West Point plebe and showing promise at quarterback. When Bob moved up to the varsity, he was clearly the man behind Galiffa in the Cadet scheme. But Coach Blaik kept Galiffa in the lineup unless Army was too far ahead to worry.

—o—

ENCOURAGEMENT was something Bob just didn't get. At home, on the rare occasions when he had time to visit, he would ask his mother:

"What does Dad say about my playing?"

The best answer she ever could give him would be:

"He said 'you didn't do anything wrong'."

However, his father's policy was only one more item in the rigid training West Point gives its Cadets. Bob managed to survive, and doubtless is a better quarterback for the way he served his apprenticeship.

Sometimes, coaches' sons get smart and go to another college. Such is the case of Bill Trautwein, Ohio State tackle and captain, whose dad for many years has been the highly esteemed basketball coach at Ohio University.

A switch on the same theme is represented by Carroll Widdoes and his son, Dick. Pop Widdoes coached at Ohio State in 1944 and 1945, then stepped down voluntarily to an assistant coaching post. Young Dick is a defensive halfback at Ohio State now, but Dad has moved on—to Ohio U. as head football coach.

Umpires Will Dine Sunday

Members of the Lawrence County Umpires Association will gather at a New Wilmington road cafe Sunday evening at 8 o'clock for their annual banquet. Honorable Judge John Lamoree will be the principal speaker.

Quite a number of local executives and officials will be guests of the association. Albert "Jabby" Conti is president.

All that glitters in the National Football League today may not be Norm Van Brocklin, but the one-time Oregon State luminary sure is twinkling pretty brightly.

County WPIAL Basketball League Again Section 23

Lawrence county's class B high schools are no longer in Section 24 of the WPIAL for basketball.

Number of the Lawrence county section has been changed again, but this time it has gone backwards. During the 1951 season the section will again be known as Section 23.

This number is not unfamiliar to the county teams, since that was what the league went by in 1948 and 1949. It was changed to Section 24 last year.

Teams in the section are Wampum, East Brook, Mt. Jackson, New Wilmington, Shenango, Bessemer and Union.

26 Sections Play

There are 26 WPIAL sections for 1951, one less than in 1950. The first 12 sections are class A, while the second 14 are Class B.

Number of the Junior high school section in this district has also been changed from Section 17 to Section 16. Teams in the section are Benjamin Franklin, George Washington, Mahoning, Union township, Sharon, Farrell and Butler.

There has been no change in either teams or number of the district class A section, which includes New Castle, Ellwood City, Sharon, Farrell, Beaver Falls, Ambridge and Aliquippa.

League games will begin on January 2 for both A and B sections in this district. Junior league games will begin on January 5.

CHATTANOOGA WINS

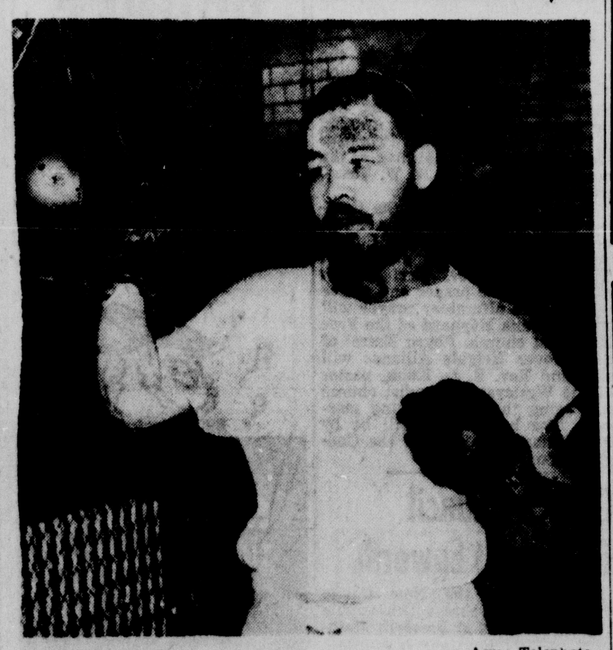

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 18—(INS)—The University of Chattanooga Moccasins, losers of eight straight games, roared to five touchdowns last night and then hung on to defeat Duquesne, 32-20.

PEGGY TURNS PRO

FINDLAY, O., Nov. 18.—(INS)—Pegg Kirk, a Curtis cup golfer and three-time winner of the Ohio women's amateur championship, will turn professional.

Triple-threat star Joe Geri, a brilliant Pittsburgh Steelers' back with more nicknames than a Damon Runyon character, is sneering at the sophmore jinx which so frequently hampers Major League baseball players.

Casey Stengel, who couldn't win in the National League and can't lose in the American, has decided not to rest on his laurels. He will manage tne Yankees for the next two years.

Little Large For A Sock
But A Mighty Welcome Gift

Christmas gifts should be useful as well as ornamental or sentimental. And in the useful class can you think of anything more appropriate than a Federal truck.

Only if he can use one in his business of course, but if he can, he'll remember this Christmas if you get him a Federal. A little large for his sock of course, but something he'll use with pleasure and profit.

Farm Students Are Given Honor

Four high school students and two veterans, who are receiving on-the-farm-training, were honored at a dinner in the William Penn hotel in Pittsburgh Friday evening for outstanding farm practices involving the use of steel by-products.

Their winning results came from a research project at Penn State college. Hosts for the occasion were the Coke Oven Ammonia Research Bureau and the United States Steel company.

Among the winning students were Carl McCurdy of Slippery Rock, whose teacher is Walter Hess, and the veteran was Wayne Kennedy of New Galilee, whose teacher was E. E. McElheny of the vocational training program here.

CARE SAVES WEAR
Only thorough, periodic lubrication—not an occasional "grease job"—can adequately control friction, your car's worst enemy. Our shop is equipped to do the job with premium lubricants, specified by the car maker, applied by conscientious service operators. This is basic preventative service. It will pay you big dividends in performance, economy, and repair bills avoided.

Junior-Senior Play Is Given At Union High

Loud and long applause rang down the curtain of the Union high Junior-Senior play, Friday evening.

Playing before a capacity audience, the students presented "Beauty and the Beef," by William Davidson—a three act football story comedy. The curtain went up at 8:15 p. m. and the play was presented in the high school auditorium. The time was the present day and age.

To say that Union high students are talented is putting it mildly. They portrayed their individual parts like troopers of the stage. The characters portrayed seemed real and true to life, and for a better part of several hours they became endeared to the hearts of the audience with their antics, mischief and surprises.

The story revolved around a young and beautiful brain child, and child wonder, Ginny Allen. Things began to happen when the football team captain, Beef, decided he was going to 'help" her with American history—a subject which she knew backwards and forwards. Complications arose of course, and these ups and downs provided heart laughs for the audience. Following two and a half acts of surprises and situations, the climax brings everything to a happy finish.

Band Performs

Military numbers were provided by the Union high band under the direction of James W. James. The selections were: A Football medley, a project march, a victory march, military escort march, Washington Post and Military March.

During the intermission between the second and third act, Director Mrs. Helen King was thanked for her splendid work and presented with a shoulder corsage and gift. Donnie Bacon made the presentation. She responded graciously.

Faculty members headed the various committees who worked hard in presenting the play. Miss Winifred Kisthart and Eugene Beichner were in charge of the sets. They were assisted by Marilou DeVite, Ralph Houk, Mike Lawrence, Richard List, David Luptak, John McClenehan, Lee McNeish, Dan Spellick, and Mickey Yannucci.

Tickets—Alma Robinson aided by Don Ross and Bill Stump. Ushers, Socrates Ruossos, aided by Delores Duda, Sophie Jendrysik, Margaret Jones, June Keller, Eilene Mack, Rosina Polding, Loretta Siegel and Martha Van Meter.

Programs were in charge of Mary Kissick, aided by Mrs. Burdena Covelli and Marlene Valiensi.

Lincoln-Garfield To Sponsor Scouts

Members of the Lincoln-Garfield Parent-Teachers' association met in the school at 8 o'clock, with the president, Mrs. Clyde Williams, conducting business.

Mrs. DeCaprio read the minutes of the previous meeting, with various committee reports presented. Mrs. Hasson, project chairman, gave the financial report of the halloween booth at the school grounds on October 31.

Miss Lillian Sarver reported on the recent P.T.A. convention in Pittsburgh stating the idea that "a healthy body means an improved mind and affects the personality, good judgment and working ability of the child."

A Christmas party and program was planned by the unit members for the next meeting. Miss Sarver's room won the attendance award.

Wayne Walters, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, John Lawson, field director of the Lawrence County Boy Scouts. "The purpose of the Boy Scouts," he explained, "is to exercise leisure time and supplement the church, home and school life of the child." An interesting film entitled "Scout Trail to Citizenship" was shown by Mr. Lawson. Peter Grittie, principal of the school, discussed the idea of the unit sponsoring a Boy Scout troop.

Refreshments were later served by members of the social committee.

Miss Jean Mathews In College Choir

Miss Jean Mathews, sophomore at the College of Wooster and daughter of Rev. and Mrs. William B. Mathews of R. D. 2, New Castle, is a member of the College of Wooster choir, which will sing Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Elijah," in Memorial chapel Tuesday evening, November 21.

The chorus of 120 voices is under the direction of Richard T. Gore and will be assisted by the Wooster symphony orchestra.

LIGHT ADJUSTMENT

LONDON—(INS)—The National Physical Laboratory announced that it has discovered an error in what was believed to be the speed of light. Dr. L. Essen of the Electricity Division of the Laboratory claimed he has measured the speed as 186,282 miles a second, and not 186,271 miles, which has been accepted since 1935.

Charleston, W. Va., is the smallest city in the nation to support a resident symphony orchestra.

FIVE ARE KILLED, FOUR WOUNDED BY CRAZED MAN

believed was the home of other intended victims.

Troopers Leonard Cunningham and Raymond Borberg, holding submachine guns, ordered Ingenito to get out of his car, hands in the air. The four guns were stuck in his belt, but Ingenito submitted to arrest without resistance.

He begged the officers, "shoot—go ahead and kill me. I want to die."

Police said his left wrist had been slashed five or six times in an apparent suicide attempt. They said they found a razor blade on the seat of his car. His wrist wounds were described as not serious.

End Biggest Manhunt

Ingenito, a radio repairman and handyman, was driven to the state police barracsk at Vineland, three miles from where he was captured at Oak road in Landis township, ending one of the biggest manhunts in New Jersey history.

Authorities questioned Ingenito at the barracks where they quoted him as saying:

"I did it, that's all. I did it. Why are you bothering me with questions?"

The shootings in the farm and poultry belt recalled the mass killings in Camden, less than 50 miles away, of Howard Unruh 14 months ago. Unruh, also an ex-GI, stalked the streets and killed 13 persons. The difference was that Unruh, brooding over imagined slights, slew strangers while Ingenito turned his guns on his relatives. Unruh was a battle veteran. Ingenito never saw action.

Dead in Killings

The dead in last night's killings were:

Michael Mazzoli, 50, his father-in-law; Mrs. Pearl Mazzoli, 43, his mother-in-law; Mzsloheresa Pioppi, 64, his wife's grandmother; John Pioppi, 46, his wife's uncle; Marion Pioppi, 28, her aunt.

Wounded and removed to Newcombe Memorial hospital in Vineland were:

Tessie Ingenito, 23, the killer's wife and mother of his two children, shot in the shoulder; Frank Mazzoli, 35, Mrs. Ingenitos' uncle, serious chest wounds; Mrs. Hilda Mazzoli, 35, wife of Frank., shot in shoulder and lower abdomen, and Jean Pioppi, nine-year-old girl cousin of the killer's wife, shot in the chest.

Police gave the following version of the rampage:

Ingenito, who had been living with a friend for the past two months, went to the Malaga home of his father-in-law, where his wife was staying, and demanded to see her and their children.

Argument Grew Heated

The argument grew heated when the in-laws refused to permit their daughter to go with Ingenito. They said the separation terms forbid it. Ingenito then thretaened to strike Mrs. Mazzoli and she fled in fright across the street to the home of the Pioppis.

The infuriated Ingenito went outside to his car and returned with a German automatic pistol to which was attached an extra clip of shells which converted it in effect into a "burp gun".

He killed his father-in-law while his wife, Tessie, ran screaming into an upstairs bedroom. Ingenito followed her there and fired a shot into her shoulder.

His son, Ernest, Jr., four, and Mihcael, two, were asleep in the room but Ingenito left them unharmed and stalked from the Mazzoli home, gun in hand.

Continues Slayings

Ingenito crossed the street of the hamlet of 60 inhabitants to the home of the Pioppis. Mrs. Theresa Pioppi, the grandmother, opened the door and Ingenito fired and killed her.

He walked across the threshhold, saw John Pioppi, his wife's uncle, pulled the trigger again and Pioppi fell mortally wounded. He died an hour later. Then Ingenito turned the smoking gun on his mother-in-law and killed her.

Mrs. Pioppi, Ingenito's aunt by marriage, ran down the stairs from an upstairs room, her nine-year-old daughter Jean in her arms. Ingenito took sight and fired several times. Mrs. Pioppi tumbled dead down the stairs and the wounded child rolled inertly under a table.

The killer left the Pioppi home, entered his battered green Ford, drove about five miles to Minatola and entered the home of Frank Mazzoli, another uncle of Mrs. Ingenito.

Wounds Two More

He flung open the door and announced, "I've cleaned out one family—now I'm going to clean out the rest. I'm going to clean them all out."

Then he fired bursts again, wounding Frank and his wife Hilda.

The south New Jersey scrub pine land was terrorized as word spread that a "killing maniac" was on the loose. Because Ingenito was using the specially-fixed automatic, word spread that he was carrying a submachine gun, and this intensified the fear.

All state police leaves were cancelled and men off dtuy ordered to report to their barracks as one killing followed another. Bridges were guarded and transportation centers advised to be on the lookout for the killer. Roadblocks were set up throughout the area.

Then four and a half hours after the first killing, Ingenito's 1941 car was recognized by the two troopers and they ran him down. Police said Ingenito carried a German Mauser, a .30-calibre carbine, a snub-nosed Italian automatic and a German P-38 automatic

South Side Coffee House Is Visited By Police Officers

Syrian Coffee house at 116 East Long avenue, was visited by Lieutenant Jones and Policemen Goodman and Hockenberry at 1:40 a.m. today and as a result George Gabriel was arrested as the keeper of a "disorderly house," and eight persons were arrested as visitors.

The police claim they heard gambling going on.

Each of the visitors was freed on $10, forfeits.

Gabriel was charged before an alderman with trafficking in lottery because police claim they found football parlays, and Numbers slips in the place.

New York Stocks

Stock Market Makes Gains

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(INS)—The stock market scored further gains today in a quiet session marked by strength in the rails and backwardness in the motors.

A brisk hour-long rally carried railway issues up fractions and soon spread to most other sections of the list, but failed to bring any encouragement to the leaders in the motor section—General Motors and Chrysler. Both of these ruled fractionally below last night's closings.

Grains were higher, too. The lower prices of the last few days attracted quite a few buyers.

BRAKE SAFELY

DAYTON, O.—The air force is trying out a few tricky maneuvers which usually are the motorist's last recollection on this earth. For one thing, the nation's air arm has found that slamming on the brakes at 100 miles per hour is just about as effective as forgetting about the brakes in the first place. Using a clipped wing B-26 bomber, the air force found that applying brakes at 100 miles per hour meant that the plane simply coasted along on the melted rubber of the tires.

Demand For Higher Taxes Is Renewed By Secretary Snyder

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Treasury Secretary Snyder on Friday renewed his demands for higher taxes to combat inflation and strike a balance between government spending and income.

Snyder told the American finance conference that "increased federal revenues are the major weapon which can be used effectively in the battle against inflation."

The secretary declared:

"Every citizen is aware that we must not only find the means of payment for our military needs—we must do this without setting in motion an inflationary spiral. Excessive price rises would damage our ability to produce.

"They would seriously jeopardize our capacity for continued production at maximum rates of output."

The treasury secretary said that to avoid inflation "a substantial part of our current high incomes" must be taken out of the spending stream. This can be accomplished, he said, by "additional taxes, increased savings and self-restraint."

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Women will be wearing fishnet instead of burlap next season, Which proves, perhaps, that 1951 will be a more elegant style-year than 1950.

The fishnet which designers are turning out in resort and spring clothes is a variety even genn-ooine fishes couldn't flop in.

It's been dyed, starched, and besequinned. It's also been stitched over such plush fabrics as satin, chiffon, sheer velvet and taffeta.

Lacey fishnet, which replaces burlap as the style-leaders' novelty material, will be found in beach coats, in swim suits, in cocktail frocks and evening gowns. It will be used to cover buttons, belts, handbags, shoes and (in the form of stoles) shoulders.

He is student minister at the Cross Roads U. P. church near Washington, Pa.

TO BE SPEAKER

John K. Stoner, student minister of the Rocky Spring U. P. church will preach the sermon at the Union Thanksgiving Day service on Thanksgiving morning.

BEAVER TOWNSHIP NOTES

Paul H. Leslie of Little Beaver who has been ill at his home, is improving.

Mrs. Frank Main who has been visiting relatives and friends in Philadelphia, Pa., and with relatives in Florida, the past few months, left Saturday for Lafayette, Colo., where she will spend winter with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. James White entertained relatives at dinner in honor of their daughter, Carol, on a recent date, the second birthday anniversary of the little Miss. A birthday cake topped with two candles, delighted the little girl as she had fun blowing out lighted candles. She was the recipient of several gifts.

Several local folk here motored to home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Audley Boak, of R.D. 4, New Castle, to extend to them congratulations and best wishes on their Golden Wedding day, November 14. "Open House" being observed afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stambaugh of Idaho Falls, Idaho, visited last week in homes of relatives in the Beaver townships. They had planned to leave for their home this week, but due to the illness of Mrs. Stambaugh's brother, Attorney John G. Marshall of Beaver, who is confined to the Rochester General hospital, they will remain in Beaver for the present.
